TO ADVERTISERS.

MR. MERCHANT, the public has been harangued too long. Its ears are ringing. Its eyes are weary with following wild gestures of inexperienced, amateur advertisers. Its intelligence has been insulted too often. Its credulity stretched too far. Readers with relief to his low-voiced, moderate, non-exaggerated advertisements, booklets, circulars, business letters, etc., because they appeal to reason. The public weighs words carefully, and the balance swings toward the more solid ones. Let me show you the difference in advertising. Terms reasonable. George M. Zollmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

I'll bring to the employer of labor the journeyman of experience or the apprentice seeking to learn a trade.

TAMPICO OIL WELLS PROTECTED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 14.—General Zaragoza, the Federal leader who defended Tampico against the Constitutionalists under General Gonzales, is in danger of capture with his entire force, according to a despatch received at the navy department from Rear Admiral Mayo.

The message states that the government forces are retreating north and west from Tampico through a territory now held by the Constitutionalists. This was the only avenue of escape open to General Zaragoza. It is presumed that the Federal commander will attempt to form a junction with Federal troops in the Saltillo district, but there is doubt that he will be successful.

The Federal gunboats are in the roadstead with the American vessels under Admiral Mayo's command, the report states.

State department advices today were that arrangements have been made with the Constitutionalists commander at Tampico to protect oil properties in the district. The advices state that so far as could be ascertained no wells have been fired. The only loss was from the overflow of the wells.

These reports indicate, department officials say, that work in the oil districts can be resumed within the next few days. Some of the foreign concessionaires have large tank steamers in the vicinity of Tampico, ready to receive shipments.

The Colonial Minstrels.

"Take me to that minstrel show" that's what all the young ladies are asking their gentlemen friends now and everyone is anxiously waiting for the big production of the Colonial Minstrels for the benefit of the Federation of Women's Clubs. Bert W. Lowe has some big things up his sleeve when the big show appears at the Kingston Opera House at an early date. Most of the big special scenes and effects for this production have been completed and last evening the first trial of the big aeroplane proved most successful. A big sensation will be the spectacular fire dance, danced by three young ladies, this dance was the biggest sensation at the London Hippodrome last season and has never been seen in this part of the country. There will be numerous other numbers that will be most interesting to the audience.

The show will be at Chautauqua week and the "Odd Fellows" Carnival, the date will be announced later in the week.

K. A. TRACK TEAM AT SCHENECTADY

The Kingston Academy track team will travel to Schenectady tomorrow, where they are scheduled to take part in the Union College interscholastic meet. While in Schenectady, the team will be guests of Union College, and will be quartered at the various fraternity houses. The interscholastic meet will be held Saturday on the college athletic field, and many of the principal schools along the Hudson and Mohawk valleys will compete.

The K. A. team has been in training for some time for the coming meet, which will close their track schedule, and although they do not expect to capture a high place in the medals at hand. The team selected to go is as follows: Cook, Wheeler, French, Pleasants and Bishop. K. A. supporters are laying all their hopes in Cook and Wheeler, K. A.'s two track stars, and it is evidently up to them to score some points.

"Bill" Cook stands a good show to capture the shot put and Wheeler has a good chance to win the running broad.

The K. A. management has also entered a team in the relay race to be held at the meet and the prize for which is a banner to be awarded permanently to the winning team. The relay team consists of Cook, Wheeler, French and Pleasants. All are good sprinters, especially Cook and Wheeler.

Bishop, K. A.'s new miler will accompany the team to Schenectady, but as he is new to track work and since this is his first race, he will hardly win the race. French and Pleasants are both reliable men and by doing their best should capture some points for K. A. Following are the home teams entries:

Cook—Shot put, relay race and 100 yd. dash.

Wheeler—440 yd. dash, relay race and running broad jump.

French—Relay race, running broad.

Pleasants—Relay race and 440 yd. dash.

Automobilist Fined.

Morris Goldman was arrested on Wednesday by Policeman Kuehn for violating the traffic ordinance by running his automobile without a rear end license and refusing to stop when trolley car passengers were alighting. This morning he entered a plea of guilty and was fined $3. The fining of several of these violators of the traffic law recently has had a wholesome effect and it is almost safe nowadays to get off a car at a street corner.

Civil Service Examination.

An open competitive examination for the position of axeman in the city engineer's department will be held on Friday evening, May 22, at the city hall under the direction of the municipal civil service commission. Blanks can be procured from and must be filed with the secretary, Augustus Shufeldt, secretary, at No. 276 Fair street, on or before May 21. Applicants must be at least 18 years of age.

Bicycle Tools Stolen.

Fred Winters of Clinton avenue, with his son, left their bicycles in front of the armory on Wednesday afternoon and locked them together to prevent their being stolen. However, some one rifled the tool bags of all their contents, including tools, wrenches, etc. The matter was reported to the police.

Year's Savings Lost.

The savings of a whole year, $150, were lost on May 5 somewhere between Cornell street and Rondout by a poor man. He is advertising a reward for the return of the money. Here is a test of the honesty of the finder.

HINKLEY WORKED SALVATION ARMY

Darwin Hinkley is still at large although the police and Sheriff Doyle have not relaxed the search for him, and it is expected that he will be shortly rounded up if he has not gotten clear of Ulster county. The reward offered by Sheriff Doyle has added an incentive to his capture or information leading to his arrest.

At the Kingston City Hospital this morning it was stated that Mrs. Hinkley spent a comfortable night.

Since the dynamite outrage and the disappearance of Hinkley from the city all sorts of rumors and stories are heard on the streets. One of the most persistent rumors was to the effect that the day before the outrage was committed, Hinkley worked in a factory. This story had its foundation from the fact that some time ago Darwin called to see Adjutant Arthur Noble of the local corps and told a woeful story of his past life and the fact that since his release from Dannemora, that his wife would not live with him. Darwin stated that all he wanted was a chance to reform and become a better man.

For over an hour he talked with Adjutant Noble and asked that the Salvation Army give him a chance to make something of himself. His story so impressed the adjutant that he gave Darwin a letter of introduction to the army industrial school in Albany and when Darwin said he was down and out and had no money, advanced him $2 to pay his carfare to Albany.

This was not the usual custom of the army officers and Adjutant Noble said that as a rule when a man applied to the army one of the corps always went to the railroad station, bought the ticket, and seen that the man took the train. An exception was made in Darwin's case as the army officials were extremely busy at that time and could not find the time to go to the West Shore station and a chance was taken on Darwin carrying out his expressed intentions.

As far as known Darwin used the money for other purposes and never occurred either a short time before Darwin passed a forged check on Kinkadee, the grocer, or shortly afterwards. Adjutant Noble at the time knew nothing of Darwin and his recollection of the fact as imparted by Hinkley that he had served a term in Dannemora.

A search of Darwin's old haunts has failed to reveal his whereabouts but the authorities have not given up hope of his ultimate capture.

Trackless Trolley to Open.

The Kingston-Elleville Trackless Trolley Company expect to start operations on Saturday and will run auto stages between Kingston and Elleville, stopping at the villages that lie between. The company has already received one of the large auto stages and it attracted considerable attention on the uptown streets this morning. The bus is a large covered one and greatly resembles a trolley car. It is a "pay as you enter" car and is handsomely finished up with comfortable seats. The running time will be between train times on the O. & W. railroad.

Highland Loses Brick Road.

The difficulties between the New Paltz-Highland trolley company and the Bridgeport Construction Company, which has the contract to build the brick state road at Highland, resulted in favor of the trolley company at a hearing before Commissioner Carlisle at Albany Tuesday night. The brick road will not be built as the trolley road cannot be compelled to change its tracks from the middle to the side of the roadway. A macadam road will be built instead.

accurately, for they combine every known feature of Wilton excellence together with certain entirely new principles that make possible the most exquisite patterns and the most delicate colorings yet with a remarkable durability.

The pile of Hardwick Wiltons is closer than any other Wilton made, and they will always lie curling at the edges.

The designs include faithful reproductions of the gems of the Orient, such as Saruks, Kernanshahs, Sennas and others. And the forty or more sizes make it possible to fit any room, no matter what its size or shape may be.

The prices of Hardwick Wilton Rugs are most reasonable, especially when the quality is considered.

It would give us great pleasure to show them to you.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, May 14.—The annual institute of the Women's Christian Temperance Union that was held in the Methodist Episcopal Church Wednesday was largely attended. Many out of town delegates were present. The sessions were both interesting, uplifting and instructive.

Miss Mabel Hawes of Swampscott, Mass., is spending some time with her friend, Miss Bertha Elsworth, on Broadway.

Prayer and praise services will be held in the Reformed and Methodist Churches this evening at 7:30 o'clock. All are most cordially invited to these services.

Mrs. Edward Strong of Arlington, N. J., is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John Muyskens, at the Reformed parsonage.

Mrs. Milton Elmendorf of Stone Ridge is spending a few days with her father, Charles E. Onslow, on Riverside avenue.

Miss Ada Brown of Woodstock, spent Wednesday with her aunt, Mrs. Minnie Mulligan, on Salem street. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hotelling and family will move from the house of Uriah Elsworth on Main street to the house of J. Wesley Van Wagner on Green street this week.

S. W. Perrine of Broadway was the guest of friends in Kingston Wednesday.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

9912.—A Neat and Comfortable House Dress With Long or Shorter Sleeve.

This design is cut with the waistline slightly raised. It has a blouse waist, with shaped front and a sleeve that will be good in either wrist or shorter length. For the wrist length a band cuff is provided, while for the shorter length a neat shaped cuff, supplies the finish. The skirt is cut on prevailing straight lines, and with a panel back. Ample pockets may be added on the fronts. The pattern is suitable for percale, chambray, gingham, linen, ratine, cotton or wool voile, tub silk or lawn. It is cut in 6 sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure, and requires 5 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 36 inch size. The skirt measures about 1 1/4 yards at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps to The Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10 cents in silver or stamps for our up-to-date 1914 Spring and Summer Catalogue, containing over 400 designs of Ladies' Misses' and Children's Patterns; also a concise and comprehensive article on dress-making, giving valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Light to Grow Skin.

Dr. Joseph Schmashkin, house physician at Lebanon hospital, the Bronx, has discovered that by exposing a large wounded surface to the direct rays of the sun and of powerful electric lights when the sun is not shining, keeping it at the same time always exposed to the air, the wound heals rapidly, new skin growing over raw surfaces so large that grafting would be necessary under any other treatment.

GREEN HOUSE WAR AILED IN COURT

Starting off with addressing such mild and gentle expressions to her as "you are a liar, a crook and a thief" and finally resorting to force and knocking her down with a blow on her chest from his fist, were a few of the things that Mrs. Grace Silverman of Milton charged Anders H. Anderson, who purchased her florist business in that village for $8,000, with doing in his efforts to drive her off the place. This was brought out by the testimony of Mrs. Silverman in her action against Mr. Anderson which was taken up for trial before Judge Chester and a jury on Wednesday afternoon in supreme court. District Attorney Cunningham with Frederick G. Traver as counsel appeared for Mrs. Silverman and Alexander C. Dow of Poughkeepsie for Mr. Anderson. The case was continued this morning.

Mrs. Silverman is suing to recover damages on three separate causes of action all arising out of the same transaction, the sale of her green houses to Mr. Anderson in 1912. According to the story as brought out on the witness stand by Mrs. Silverman and her daughter, Mrs. Clark, they conducted a florist business at Milton for a period of eight years when in 1912 Mr. Silverman, the husband of the plaintiff, died and she decided to sell the business. On August 5, 1912, Mr. Anderson, the defendant, first came to her place and looked the place over and told her he had several other places in view that he also intended to look at. For a period of about a month he boarded with Mrs. Silverman and went away at different intervals to look at other places. On one of his trips away Mrs. Silverman wrote him a letter that the florist season would start shortly and the green houses should be stocked so that advantage could be taken of the Christmas trade. He wrote back for her to go ahead and stock the green houses as usual and if he decided not to purchase the place she would not lose any money, and if he did purchase the place he would pay her for what ever expense she was put to. She went ahead and stocked the green houses and it cost $370.91 which when Anderson bought the property he did not pay and that is the first cause of action on which the present action is brought.

Mr. Anderson finally did purchase the green houses for $8,000 but did not pay her for stocking the green houses. After he had bought the place Anderson offered to employ her as florist and an agreement was made that he was to receive two-thirds of the profits of the business and she one-third of the profits. This was the same arrangement that she had with an expert florist she employed who was discharged after Anderson had bought the place. She only stayed a short time, claiming that Anderson drove her off the place, which makes the second cause of action a breach of contract. For a third cause of action she is suing to recover for her amounting to about $12 which was in the barn and which Anderson refused to allow her to remove.

According to Mrs. Silverman she gave the deed to Anderson on October 1, 1912, and shortly after that the trouble started. The first contention arose over a step ladder which she had given to her daughter. Anderson claimed it belonged to the property and she said it did not as it was her own personal property. He told a new she had better see that it was brought back and called her "a liar, a crook and a thief."

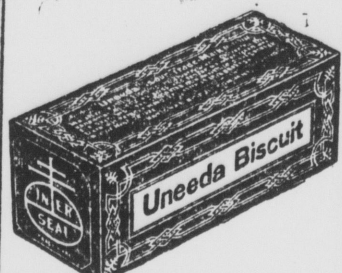

The next trouble was a few days later when she called his attention to the fact that some wood ought to be cut for the green house fires. He asked her if she did not buy coal and she replied that she did but she needed wood to start the fires and he told her to "take an axe and go cut the wood yourself."

The next step was when he sent a boy out to the green house to get a ball of coal. She would not allow the boy to take the coal for Anderson's house stating it was needed for the green houses. Anderson later came down and in the wordy argument that ensued he refused to allow her to leave the work room of the florist house unless she ordered coal and he shut her in by closing the door. She immediately got busy on the telephone and called up her son-in-law to come to the green house. Before he arrived Anderson opened the door and disappeared.

The next step taken to drive her off the place, according to Mrs. Silverman's testimony, occurred on November 21, the day set aside by Anderson for holding a reception. This day he knocked her down and when she got up he ordered her off the place. She said that as she was only a woman she got off the place but came back later after seeing John Ball the lawyer at Milton. She also said that she had a pet cat and when Anderson ordered her off the premises he told her she had better take the cat unless she wanted it to be a dead cat.

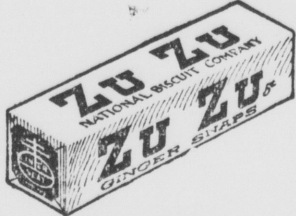

The defense is a general denial and that when Anderson and Mrs. Silverman entered into an agreement to run the business on shares a clause was included that allowed him to discharge her if her services were not satisfactory.

During Chautauqua Week, arrangements have been made at Kingston and Ulster Academies to dismiss the students in time for them to attend the afternoon performance. At the afternoon academy the periods have been shortened five minutes each and school begins at 8:30 o'clock instead of 8:45 o'clock and continues on without noon recess until the work for the day is completed. At Ulster one period is omitted each day and noon recess is allowed. In this way the students miss very little if any of their work and are permitted the advantages of the Chautauqua course.

A Pointer To Merchants

A certain store which is being re-established by new owners has specialized on famous trade-marked lines in many of its departments.

The figures of the store-sales show that the departments which have been able to secure such goods and push them are growing far ahead of those which have no famous brands to help them.

Responses to the advertising of this store evidence the fact that the public is more eager for well known trade-marked goods than it is for articles whose names mean nothing.

In several instances there is direct co-operative advertising in the local newspapers between the manufacturer and the store—and this has brought splendid results in dollars and cents.

Have you tried the Ford cure? For that shut-in feeling—for that roaming urge—for that tug toward the country-side there's nothing like a day of Ford freedom. And its cost is well within your income. Get your Ford to-day.

A Pointer To Merchants

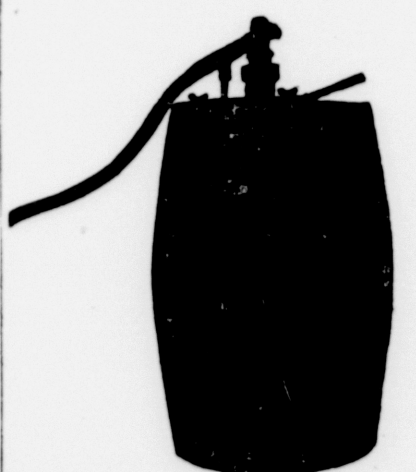

A certain store which is being re-established by new owners has specialized on famous trade-marked lines in many of its departments. The figures of the store-sales show that the departments which have been able to secure such goods and push them are growing far ahead of those which have no famous brands to help them.

Responses to the advertising of this store evidence the fact that the public is more eager for well known trade-marked goods than it is for articles whose names mean nothing.

In several instances there is direct co-operative advertising in the local newspapers between the manufacturer and the store—and this has brought splendid results in dollars and cents.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 14, 1914.

The Colonel sends out from Barbados the information that the river he "discovered" and named the Theodore was already partly known to rubber gatherers. They call the upper part the Castanho and the lower the Arponan. His discovery seems to apply only to the middle portion and will be useful chiefly in correcting the maps. After this important achievement we trust that the Colonel will thoroughly explore another stream of which we have heard much but which appears on no map. Politicians and others frequently go up "Salt River," but there is no record of anybody coming down that waterway. What it is called up near the source is a mystery which ought to be solved, so that those who embark will not only know that they are on their way but where they are going.

Public sentiment overwhelmingly approves the sentencing of the Rev. Bouck White to six months in the workhouse for disturbing services in the Calvary Baptist Church of New York City last Sunday. A clergyman himself, he was fully aware that the law forbids any one to start a debate in a place of worship. The fact that the Rockefellerers belong to this church has nothing to do with the case. Theoretically, it might be beneficial and instructive to encourage auditors to criticize assertions made by pastors. Jesus Christ was frequently asked questions and seemed to be glad to answer them, but it should be noticed that they were always brief and were genuine requests for information. The only exception we recall was the incident of the man with the unclean spirit, who was rebuked, and we are of the opinion that the Rev. White also is possessed of an unclean spirit. At any rate, however it may have been in olden times or ought to be now, churchgoers are averse to substituting a debating society for the customary church services, and they must be protected in their choice.

It is good news to all who have suffered keenly from the exasperating incompetency of clerks in book stores that the American Book-sellers' Association, which has been holding a convention in New York, is taking steps toward a general education of such sales-people. College girls are to be encouraged to take up this profession, in which they can make more money than at teaching, besides working in more pleasant surroundings. There is also talk of starting a special correspondence school for the purpose of teaching clerks how to treat various classes of customers so that the latter will experience pleasure instead of torture while making selections. Of course, all the book-seilers are after is to sell more books, and they realize that under existing methods trade is actually being discouraged. In most stores the aim seems to be to unload worthless fiction to the exclusion of everything else, although it is known that reading the class of novels usually found among "the six best sellers" is well calculated to destroy the reading habit altogether. Books worth owning are seldom displayed. You often have to coax for them.

The capture of Tampico by the Constitutionalists signifies that Huerta can stay in power but a little while longer. All his talk about sending 50,000 troops to the front seems to have been mere bluff, since the best information obtainable is that he has only about 6,000 soldiers, while his enemies have at least double that number, besides being far more fortunate in possessing capable officers. It is reported by persons in a position to know that Huerta fully realizes his situation, but he has some plan of making his escape from the country at the last moment and is known to have shipped a large amount of gold to Europe so that he can live in luxury when he arrives there. It is quite probable that by the time the mediators get down to business at Niagara Falls there will be nothing to mediate, since Huerta will have become a negligible factor and the invitation to Carranza to send delegates has been withdrawn. Carranza and Villa, who have been short of pocket money during the disturbance, will soon be in a position to loot the rich City of Mexico and in their turn send gold to Europe in anticipation of their own exile. Since Huerta cannot be expected to give that overdue salute to our flag when his guns have been taken away from him, the United States will have to get out of Mexico or find some new excuse for remaining. Yet there are some people who pretend that they admire the Wilson-Bryan policy.

STRANGE TESTS.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

In the psychological laboratories of Johns Hopkins university a series of experiments is being conducted "to settle scientifically the question whether a woman has as great mentality as a man."

After reading the statement, one feels that she must pause for a long, long while to let its significance sink in, or, at least, to try as hard as she can.

For, somehow to the unscientific mind, it seems very like child's play. Students in the senior classes at Hopkins and at Goucher Colleges are lending their brains for the tests and already the mental equipment of the average Hopkins man has been ascertained and duly labeled and filed away for future reference. And now the Goucher young women are under test, praying, quite likely, that their mentality may be found to mount higher and still higher until it stands on the same level of that of the Hopkins men.

Quite complicated apparatus is used in making the tests, it is said. In order to learn the quickness of a student's perception, two transmitters are used with a time-noting attachment. The person conducting the examination speaks a single word into one transmitter—the name of some object easily qualified by an adjective; and the poor, frightened victim must hasten to mention a properly qualifying word. And the time record unfailingly shows whether he is quick or slow to receive and reply to mental impressions.

Picture tests are used and all the known psychological methods are followed, in order that science may determine the mental status of the Goucher girls and the Hopkins boys.

And when it is all over?

Why, they can begin again, you know. This year, the next, and the many to follow—and then science may be prepared to tell the listening world that, speaking in averages, man's mentality or woman's is the greater.

As for this year the tests may prove that the Goucher girls cannot hold their own against the Hopkins brothers; or they may develop the strange fact that they outshine them. But another year may tell quite a different story. It may be a year that will fairly revel in brainy men-students, or it may produce the more brilliant young women, for classes in college are variable, even as the weather. And it takes some time to be able to settle things in averages, though the most careful of scientists may be taking the measurements.

And beside—

Life itself will settle all that, if it is just let alone, life, and the men and the women who act on its great changing stage. When men and women are found working side by side, in life as in schools, it is easy enough to tell whose mentality is the greater, always providing they are granted the same tools, and freely travel the same roads.

So why should scientists grow so impatient? To some of us it seems that they are wasting precious moments and that instead of asking students to yield themselves and their brains as subjects to determine who's who, man or woman, they might better be preparing each to realize that he has his own little way to plow through the world and that the way and the mental development of the other do not matter.

If one must be outclassed and out-distanced at all, it is well to be broad-minded enough to realize that it makes not a particle of difference who is the real winner. Everybody who is observing at all knows that some men are far brainier than some women, far better mentally developed. But the same everybody likewise is aware that as things run along in the same kind of groove, some women stand head and shoulders above some of the men who are there. But what does that prove? And if it proved that men had the greater mentality, or women, then the poor mentally handicapped ones, men or women, as the case might be, ought, at least to be granted every chance to make the most and the best of their smaller possibilities.

Meanwhile one believes that colleges should not go so far out of their way to give emphasis to matters like that. Too long the world has suffered from distinctions based, not upon fitness nor upon qualities of mind, but upon arbitrary rulings of sex. If men, by reason of superior mental equipment, are destined to rise and women to fall, then, rise and fall it must be; but don't let's prejudice the minds of students any more than they are prejudiced today.

For, all things being as nearly equal as may be, life is the best test, after all. But of course, when paths divide that kind of a test is very difficult.

And why should we care?

Mayor Mitchell of New York was praising a commuter who, by continual complaints, had improved the railway service of his district.

Why He Asked.

Everything was going along smoothly at the meeting until the Rough Person in the back of the hall asked:

"Is there a Christian Scientist anywhere in the house?"

"Yes, sir; I'm a Christian Scientist."

Francis Burton Harrison, governor of the Philippines, has a gift of repartee which, in his entertainments in his beautiful Fifth avenue house, he exercises brilliantly.

At one of Mr. Harrison's dinners a group of "professional reformers" came up for discussion.

"We must all be either hammer or anvil, eh?" said Burton Harrison. "But how about the bellows?"—Boston Journal.

Tea and The.

"A French maid, when I refused tea the other afternoon, exclaimed: 'But monsieur isn't like his fellow countrymen, then!'"

"Not like them? How so?" said I.

"Why," said the maid, "I picked up one of your American novels the other day, a Howells novel, and, though I can't read English, I saw that there was nothing but 'tea,' 'tea,' 'tea,' on every page. Now people who talk so much about tea must be inordinately fond of it, hence pas, monsieur?"

"She thought, you see, that our article 'tea' had the same meaning as 'tea' in French."—New York Times.

Irate Parent—"No, siree. You can't have her. I won't have a son-in-law who has no more brains than to marry a girl with no more sense than my daughter has shown in allowing you to think you could have her."—Life.

"You are never sentimental as you used to be," said Mr. Meekton's wife. "What's the use, Henrietta? Last year when I said you ought to be queen of the May you said that it was just like a man to offer you a position which carried neither pecuniary reward nor official authority."—Washington Star.

He Took It With Him.

Horace T. Eastman, the inventor of the locomotive pilot, said the other day:

"This morning I was sitting in a drug store waiting to get a prescription filled, when a young Irishman entered.

"The Irishman pointed to a stack of green castle soap and said:

"'O! want a lump o' that.'"

"'Very well, sir,' said the clerk. 'Will you have it scented or unscented?'"

"'O! I'll take it with me,' said the Irishman."—New York Sun.

Corporation Foot-Balls.

Mayor Mitchell of New York was praising a commuter who, by continual complaints, had improved the railway service of his district.

"We are apt to call the kicker a crank and a nuisance," said Mr. Mitchell. "But it's the kicker who gets things done for the community."

He smiled and ended:

"They who never kick are but too apt to become foot-balls."—New York World.

Why He Asked.

Everything was going along smoothly at the meeting until the Rough Person in the back of the hall asked:

"Is there a Christian Scientist anywhere in the house?"

Silence for an instant; then a lady at the other side of the hall got to her feet and timidly ventured:

"Yes, sir; I'm a Christian Scientist."

"Well, then, Madam," replied the R. P., "would you mind changing seats with me? I'm sitting in a draft."—Yarns.

Cutting Prices.

Two mining-town saloon men got into a price-cutting campaign. One displayed this card in his window:

"Gallon of Whiskey with jug, $1."

Fifteen minutes later his rival over the street had this chalked on a board:

"Gallon of Whiskey with jug, 98 cents."—Yarns.

The Bellows.

Francis Burton Harrison, governor-general of the Philippines, has a gift of repartee which, in his entertainments in his beautiful Fifth avenue house, he exercises brilliantly.

At one of Mr. Harrison's dinners a group of "professional reformers" came up for discussion. "Well," remarked a Bostonian, as Longfellow says, "we knock or are knocked in this world—we must all of us be either hammer or anvil in this world. To use the precise words of the poet, 'We must all be either hammer or anvil, eh?' said Burton Harrison. "But how about the bellows?"—Boston Journal.

Tea and The.

At a tea given at the Ruhl, in Nice, to officers of the Mediterranean fleet a well known tourist said, nodding toward a sign, "The Damsant," which might be translated "Tango Tea."

"A French maid, when I refused tea the other afternoon, exclaimed: 'But monsieur isn't like his fellow countrymen, then?'"

"Not like them? How so?" said I.

"Why," said the maid I picked up one of your American novels the other day, a Howells novel, and, though I can't read English, I saw that there was nothing but 'tea,' 'tea,' 'tea,' on every page. Now people who talk so much about tea must be inordinately fond of it, h'est-ce pas, monsieur?"

"She thought, you see, that our article 'the' had the same meaning as 'tea' in French."—New York Times.

NEW SHOKAN PROUD OF NEW SCHOOL

Since the invasion of New York city in and about Shokan there has been a great deal of talk and not a little written of the changes that have occurred. The old villages have been wiped out and new ones have sprung up but in no way has the change been more noticeable than in the schoolhouses and churches. Modern schools have been constructed according to the rules of the education department, and up-to-date buildings have taken the place of the little red school house. Shokan District School No. 3, is one of these modern buildings and is located on top of a hill in the new village of Shokan a short distance from the handsome new stone church recently completed. Charles McDonough, Jr., trustee during 1913-14, has a school building which is surpassed by none in the county. The teacher, Mrs. Ward J. Dunham, has an average attendance of about 40 pupils. The pupils attending the school are: Wilfred Allen; Daniel Brink; Fred Buley; Raymond Buley; Franklin Buswell; Leo Barley; Clyde Everett; James Gordon; William Griffith; Charles Griffith; Edmund Longyear; Robert Lewis; Clarence MacDonald; Donald Morgan; Tony Secor; Jay Secor; Clarence Secor; Robert Secor; Floyd Weeks; Howard Wood; Dorothy Brink; Rose Cunningham; Lora Giles; Florence Gordon; Blanche Hughes; Florence Hughes; Edna Longyear; Mabel Murson; Viola MacDonald; Marian Page; Anna Peacock; Mollie Rosatta; Bertha Rider; Gladys Secor; Lottie Secor; Vera Van Steenburgh; Margaret Winchell; Katie Wager; Bessie Wynkoop.

VILLA WILL ATTACK SALTILLO NEXT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paredon, State of Coahuila, Mex., May 14.—With this city as a base, the general Constitutional movement against Saltillo, will begin tomorrow. Twenty-two thousand Constitutionalists are massed at this point, which is just 30 miles north of Saltillo, making it at present the greatest military camp in the republic.

About 10,000 other troops are in the vicinity of Saltillo, harrying the Federal outposts. The fighting so far has been at long range. Gen. Villa having given orders that the grand assault be delayed until the entire Constitutional army of the north is massed about the city with its artillery.

Pursuing his usual tactics, Villa will probably begin the main attack upon Saltillo with a fierce bombardment from his siege guns. The charge of the infantry forces will probably be made at night as was done at Domez Palacio and Torreon. Thousands of hand grenades have been prepared for hand to hand fighting in the streets of Saltillo.

For a week detachments of Constitutional soldiers have been repairing tracks and bridges north of Saltillo for a quick movement of troops from the base to the front. A report was made to headquarters today that the repair work has finally been completed and that all is in readiness for the first shipment of artillery and ammunition tonight. Villa has enough artillery to fill an entire train of twenty cars, but he has plenty of reserve cars and locomotives so he is not worrying about transportation problems.

Gen. Villa, following a personal reconnaissance of the Federal positions, declared that he expects Saltillo to fall within 24 hours after the general attack begins. "After Saltillo comes Mexico City," This has now become the watchword.

Word from the south that Tampico has fallen, caused tremendous excitement among the rebels and greatly encouraged them. The ragged Constitutional troops are beginning to think themselves invincible.

A report was current that Gen. Huerta was on his way to take personal command of the Federals in Saltillo, but it was not credited. "It is too good to be true" said Villa.

"I only hope that Huerta would come to Saltillo. I would see to it personally that he be taken prisoner and then I would have him executed in public for the traitor that he is." Reports that Villa's army is made up of bandits and that his capture of Mexico City would result in the capital being pillaged have angered the Constitutional commander in chief.

"Foreign property would be respected and foreigners would be safe," said Villa.

"Our war is against Mexican traitors and we would not harm any of our fellow countrymen who promised to work for the security of our government."

Villa has asked Gen. Carranza, the provisional president of the Constitutionalists, to suggest to President Wilson that the embargo on the transportation of arms across the Rio Grande be lifted.

"I suggest that President Wilson appoint a military commission to judge just how much ammunition we need to fight our way into Mexico City and allow that much, and no more to come in," said Villa.

"I am sorry I cannot talk personally with President Wilson. If I could, I'm sure I could persuade him to adopt this course."

The Federal garrison in Saltillo is about 12,000 strong, according to the most authentic reports. The Federals have thrown up barricades about the city and have considerable artillery, but are short of ammunition.

Highland, May 14.—Funeral services for Abraham Brinckerhoff were held from his late home on Maple avenue Monday last. The Rev. G. S. Davis, pastor of the M. E. Church, preached a grand sermon. Many relatives, friends and neighbors attended and the floral tributes were many and beautiful. He will be greatly missed, for every day one could see and talk with him, and he was always ready to assist people with work. To Charles Delaney, half brother of Robert D. Delaney, if living, whose place of residence is unknown, and to the creditors, next of kin, heirs at law, legatees and devisees of Charles Delaney, half brother of Robert D. Delaney, if he be dead, whose names and places of residence are unknown.

To William Delaney, half brother of Robert D. Delaney, if living, whose place of residence is unknown, and to the creditors, next of kin, heirs at law, legatees and devisees of William Delaney, half brother of Robert D. Delaney, if he be dead, whose names and places of residence are unknown, and to all other persons interested in the estate of Robert D. Delaney, deceased, as creditors, next of kin, heirs at law, legatees or devisees.

You and each of you are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear at a Surrogate's Court to be held in and for the County of Ulster at the Surrogate's Office in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y., on the 22nd day of June, 1914, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to show cause why Frances Margaret Barter, a niece and creditor of said Robert D. Delaney should not be appointed Administratrix of the goods, chattels and credits of the said Robert D. Delaney, deceased, and if any of the persons interested be under the age of twenty-one years they are required to appear by their guardian if they have one or if they have none they are required to appear and apply for the appointment of one or in the event of their neglect or failure to do so a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for them in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. [L. S.] Walter N. Gill, Surrogate of our said Court, at the City of Kingston the 7th day of May, 1914.

ACCORD M. E. CHURCH.

With Return of Mr. Voight New Plans are Made.

Accord, May 14.—Mr. Voight met the "Business Department" of the M. E. Church last Thursday evening in the minister's reception room of the parsonage. Plans for the year were mapped out in view of "church efficiency." The "New Financial Plan" authorized by the Methodist conference was adopted and will be inaugurated in June. A part of the Ladies' Aid program of activities for the coming year will be monthly evenings of moving pictures followed with ice cream and cake. The first of these will be given soon. Mr. Voight has set aside Monday evening of each week to be "at home" to the people of Accord and vicinity. In the reception room of the parsonage he will be glad to receive any who wish to call or to see him concerning any matter. "The Wealth of a Community" is the general subject for the four address scheduled for the Sunday evening services. The dates are as follows: May 10, "The Wealth of an Idea," May 17, "The Wealth of the Young," May 24, "The Wealth of the Nature," May 31, "The Wealth of Institutions." Mr. Voight is here to stay now, and will give his full time to this conference year to this charge.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, May 13.—Alden Van Beneschoten has the foundation for his new cottage nearly finished. Sydney Clapp, of the water board, has had several large maps set out on his lot near Benjamin Secor's farm.

Very few of our farmers have done any plowing because of the wet weather. No use to plow our clay soil until it dries out fairly well.

The epidemic of measles and scarlet fever in the camp at Brown's has nearly ceased and the school teachers, Miss Clark and Miss Alliger, have returned.

Charles Green and Ephraim Weeks drove to Kerhonkson Monday on business.

Our storekeepers seem to be doing a heavy business these days. There is work aplenty on both the dam and boulevard and at quitting time our streets present a lively appearance.

Kenneth Bell has purchased a fine passenger Ford car from Alonzo Haver of Samsonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bell of Kingston drove to this place Sunday. A girl baby has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks.

E. P. James has returned to his farm after spending the winter in New York.

James Giles and family have moved in William Secor's tenement.

The detour which starts at R. W. Longyear's place and meets the boulevard near Eichler's, is completed and a force of men are now engaged in constructing a detour from the viaduct to the railroad station on the city's property. Work on the boulevard is progressing rapidly at the several places where crushers have been set up. Hundreds of men are now employed on this job.

J. K. DuBois and John Every are making improvements to A. D. Winne's grounds.

George Lasher has opened his new meat, fish and vegetable market near the station. Mr. Lasher has a very neat looking building and his place is very well located for business.

Pigs are very scarce in this section. It being almost impossible to get them at any price.

Rev. Henry Brink, who has accepted a call to the Woodstock Reformed Church, will be greatly missed by our people. Mr. Brink has been untiring in the work of reconstruction which the local church has passed through, and it is due largely to his efforts that we have the beautiful stone church building on the heights.

Postmaster Winchell is having a building erected near his store. It is said that Basil Cudney will open a meat market in the building when it is completed.

Karl Elmendorf is putting the finishing touches to his new house on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harlow visited Mrs. Inez Dumont recently.

Judge Buswell has bought a car and is disposing of his wagon and harness.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winne of Haines Falls spent Sunday in town. Augustus Green has planted his garden. Congratulations, Gus; you beat us to it.

Clarence Schoonmaker of Kingston was in town Friday.

Mrs. Thiel's cottage has been treated to a new coat of paint.

Several of our farmers bought a load of lime recently. We are glad to see our farmers keep abreast of the times for their property helps everybody along.

Miss Ter Bush, teacher in the Ashokan school, who has been seriously ill, is much improved.

Mrs. Dunham's scholars will give an entertainment in Elmendorf Hall Thursday evening.

Fred Brooks gave another of his popular dances last week.

The city's forestry squad is busy setting out pine trees around the reservoir.

Jesse Weeks, who saved one of his fingers off recently, is much better. Rose Kemble and Louise Crispell spent Sunday with friends here.

Robert Bloom and Clyde Winchell seem to find some attraction up the line these nights. Pretty rough road, eh, boys?

Mrs. Scott's beautiful new house is ready for occupancy.

A. D. Winne, our hustling merchant, has made an addition to his store building.

Herbert Dibbell, Jr., has returned from Kingston, where he underwent an operation.

Alexander Peacock and son are very busy these days doing spring painting. We are glad to see our people take such an interest in the improvement of their properties. Keep up the good work.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, May 14.—Sunday school at 2 o'clock and preaching service at 3 on May 17. Everybody welcome.

The entertainment and ice cream social on Friday evening passed off very pleasantly.

Frank Beesmer of Rhinebeck and

Otis Bardin of Acorn Hill passed through the place on Saturday en route to Vernoy Falls trout fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Kleef of Kingston visited their brother, George Van Kleef, on Sunday.

Virgil Shurter and daughter, Sylvia, went to Lyonsville to see Stephen Christian's children, who are recovering from measles.

Mr. and Mrs. John Beesmer of Krumville took dinner with Mrs. John Beesmer of this place on Sunday and attended the Sunday school in the afternoon.

Miss Empt returned last Sunday from the teachers' conference. Kenneth Barley and sister, Clara, were out for a drive on Saturday afternoon.

A baby girl arrived at John Markle's on Friday evening and has been named Mildred.

Reginald Case and Mr. Leeper of Kingston called on LaFayette Moore on Saturday. They came on their bicycles by way of Brown's Station.

Miss Maud Shurter and friend were out for a ride on Sunday afternoon. H. Barringer and daughter, Ruth, were shopping at Tongore one day last week and visited the store of F. Ennist.

Mrs. Freeman Roosa was out on Sunday, the first she has been to the village in a long time on account of illness. We are glad to see her looking so well.

The school building committee met at P. Shurter's on Saturday evening. Mrs. Noah Barringer is not so well again.

Miss Florence Beesmer of Krumville has been visiting Miss Lillie Barringer and Miss Genevieve Moore. Mrs. Sarah Smith is caring for Mrs. Barringer.

We are pleased to hear that Rachel E. Davis is so much improved as to be able to walk out of doors and do some light work.

Mr. and Mrs. Coddington and daughter of Stone Ridge visited at F. M. Davis's recently.

Mrs. Markle was called to see her father, John Swarthout, who was seriously ill.

Ralph Smith is working for his brother-in-law, W. Davis, at Ashokan.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, May 14.—The Rev. Mr. Brink, of the Ashokan Reformed Church, preached in the Reformed Church of this village Sunday evening. He expects to be the pastor of this Reformed Church in the near future.

The funeral services of Mrs. Hiram Cramer were held at the home of Edgar Russell on Monday at 2 p. m. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Sutherland, the Lutheran pastor, assisted by a former Lutheran pastor by the name of Mr. Fredericks. Mrs. Cramer was 92 years of age and left behind her an honored memory.

We regret to learn that Rev. Mr. Sutherland contemplates leaving the pastorate of the Lutheran Church in the near future. He is a pastor of genuine worth and the community will miss him and his wife.

Granville Van Buren of Kingston has been drilling a well in the rear of the "Tea Room" and found water at the depth of 53 feet. The well in the cemetery is 53 feet. Mr. Carleson's well went down 180 feet before water was reached. The well on the place of Walter Weyl went down 427 feet before water was reached. When the cost of drilling is $2.50 a foot, a well of the latter depth costs something.

The above wells were drilled by Mr. Van Buren and the company he is very well located for business.

Pigs are very scarce in this section. It being almost impossible to get them at any price.

Rev. Henry Brink, who has accepted a call to the Woodstock Reformed Church, will be greatly missed by our people. Mr. Brink has been untiring in the work of reconstruction which the local church has passed through, and it is due largely to his efforts that we have the beautiful stone church building on the heights.

SUPREME COURT, ULSTER COUNTY.—Francis P. Roberts, plaintiff, against Katharine F. Roberts et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment in the above entitled action of partition, entered in the office of the clerk of the county of Ulster on the 15th day of April, 1914, I, the undersigned referee in and by said judgment for that purpose appointed, will sell at public auction, at the late residence of Charles H. Roberts, deceased, in the town of Lloyd, Ulster county, New York, on the 6th day of June, 1914, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the lands and premises in said judgment directed to be sold and described as follows:

Parcel A.

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the town of Lloyd, in the County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the northwest corner of the farm hereby conveyed in the line between lots Nos. 7 and 8, and the northeast corner of Patrick Gallagher's farm in the south line of the lands of the estate of Reuben Deyo; thence along the wall in the line between lots Nos. 7 and 8, south forty-three degrees and five minutes east four chains; thence south forty-five degrees thirty minutes east 12 chains thirty-six links to high water mark on the Hudson River at the south point of a large rock, said point being thirty-five links north of a double basswood tree; thence along high water mark south eight degrees fifteen minutes west two chains and forty-eight links; thence south four degrees thirty minutes west one chain and eighty-three links; thence south three degrees thirty minutes east two chains and eighty-five links; thence south fifteen degrees thirty minutes east two chains and twenty-five links; thence south thirty degrees east three chains and fifty-four links; thence south eight degrees thirty minutes east three chains and seventy-three links; thence south three degrees thirty minutes west one chain and sixty links; thence south thirty-four degrees forty minutes east one chain and thirty-four links; thence south three degrees fifteen minutes west one chain and six links; thence south thirteen degrees thirty minutes east five chains and forty-five links; thence south twenty-two degrees east two chains and fifty-two links; thence south twenty degrees east three chains and seventy-five links; thence south twenty degrees east six chains and twenty links; thence south eight degrees east two chains and fifty-four links; thence south thirty degrees thirty minutes west fifty links; thence south six degrees fifteen minutes west ninety-three links to a basswood tree marked standing at the high water mark at the northeast corner of the lands of Daniel F. Bernard (Barnard); thence along his north line north forty-six degrees fifteen minutes west eight chains sixty-three links to the east end of a wall; thence along said wall north fifty-one degrees thirty minutes west five chains and sixty links; thence north forty-eight degrees fifteen minutes west nine chains and sixty links; thence north forty-nine degrees fifteen minutes west nine chains and sixty links; thence north forty-nine degrees fifteen minutes west nine chains and sixty links to the southeast corner of Smith Ransom's farm; thence along his east line north forty-two degrees fifteen minutes east thirteen chains seventy-five links to the south line of Patrick Gallagher's farm; thence along his east line eleven chains ninety-eight degrees to the southeast corner; thence along his east line north twenty-one degrees forty-five minutes east six chains and twenty links to the place of beginning.

Containing ninety-three acres two rods and thirty-eight perches of land, be the same more or less.

Together with all the right, title and interest which the party of the first part has in and to the right of way or private road across the lands of Smith Ransom, made in a deed from Smith Ransom to Thomas C. Bates, dated August 17, 1848, and recorded in the Office of the Clerk of Ulster County in Book 61 of deeds on pages 387, 388 and 389, on the 18th day of March, 1848.

Excepting, however, from the above described premises all the right, title and interest of the N. Y. & W. S. & B. R. R. Company, in and to the railroad tracks and right of way of said company across said premises.

Also all that certain piece of land situate in the Town of Lloyd aforesaid, bounded as follows, viz: Beginning at a point in the center of the road leading to Lewisburg, at the southeast corner of lands of Castellano; thence north 41 degrees west 1,282 feet to lands of Grace Van B. Roberts; thence along her land north 49 degrees east 1,813 feet to a stone wall; thence south 38 degrees 30 minutes east 1,015 feet to a point on Bunker Hill; thence south 30 degrees 45 minutes west 76 feet; south 37 degrees 30 minutes east 771 feet; south 38 degrees west 198 feet; south 37 degrees 30 minutes east 230 feet to a point in the north-west line of a wedge shaped parcel of land purchased by Charles H. Roberts from Isaac E. R. Ransom by deed dated February 7, 1887, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office February 9, 1887 in Book 268 of Deeds, page 525; thence north along the north-west line of said wedge shaped parcel about 200 feet to its northwest corner; thence running south-easterly 42 feet; thence south-westerly 320 feet; thence south 43 degrees 44 minutes west about 150 feet to the center of the Lewisburg road; thence south 88 degrees 42 minutes east 75 feet; thence south 71 degrees 50 minutes east 44 feet; thence south 39 degrees 15 minutes east 143 feet; south 71 degrees 50 minutes east 97 feet; thence south still along said road 20 degrees 30 minutes east 35 feet; thence along said road south 75 degrees 30 minutes east 27 feet; thence leaving said road south 17 degrees 21 minutes west 443 feet; thence south 3 degrees 17 minutes east 298 feet to the Hudson river shore, crossing an iron pin near the west side of the railroad right of way; thence along the river shore southerly to the north-east corner of the lands purchased by Charles H. Roberts from Lydia Bates; thence north 45 degrees 30 minutes west 12 chains 36 links; thence north 43 degrees 5 minutes west 4 chains to a corner between lots Nos. 7 and 8, at the northeast corner of land formerly owned by Patrick Gallagher and in the south line of the lands of the estate formerly of Reuben Deyo; thence continuing along a stone wall, north 41 degrees west about 1,581 feet to the place of beginning.

Together with all the right, title and interest in and to the right of way conveyed by Isaac C. B. Ransom to Charles H. Roberts by deed dated February 1st, 1887, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 268 of Deeds, at page 525.

Excepting, however, from the above described premises, all the right, title and interest of the N. Y. & W. S. & B. R. R. Company in and to the railroad tracks and right of way of said company across said premises.

The said premises above described or some part thereof, being subject to a right of way granted by Charles H. Roberts and wife to Philip Herman by conveyance dated October 30, 1871, and recorded in the Ulster county clerk's office December 12, 1871 in book 173 of deeds, at page 412.

Excepting and reserving from the above described lands the right reserved in a deed of a part of said premises made by Ella Shaffer, dated December 29, 1905 and recorded in the Ulster county clerk's office January 3, 1906 in book 391 of deeds, at page 558, to use the water which flows through the blinded ditch or brook running through the premises described in said deed for household purposes and subject to the agreement not to divert the said water as expressed in said deed.

The premises hereinbefore described will be first exposed for sale by said referee in two parcels and the referee will record the highest bid received therefor and will strike off said premises to the highest bidder or bidders therefor; such sale of said premises, however, to be conditioned upon the amount so bid therefor being greater than a whole amount bid for said premises upon a sale thereof in twelve parcels as hereinafter provided.

The referee will then immediately thereafter and on same date, expose the said premises for sale in twelve separate parcels as follows:

Parcel 1.

Beginning at the southwest corner of the lands of the estate of Charles H. Roberts, deceased, and also a corner of lands of J. R. Seaman and lands of A. ACCORD M. E. CHURCH.

With Return of Mr. Voight New Plans are Made.

Accord, May 14.—Mr. Voight met the "Business Department" of the M. E. Church last Thursday evening in the minister's reception room of the parsonage. Plans for the year were mapped out in view of "church efficiency." The "New Financial Plan" authorized by the Methodist conference was adopted and will be inaugurated in June. A part of the Ladies Aid program of activities for the coming year will be monthly evenings of moving pictures followed with ice cream and cake. The first of these will be given soon. Mr. Voight has set aside Monday evening of each week to be "at home" to the people of Accord and vicinity. In the reception room of the parsonage he will be glad to receive any who wish to call or to see him concerning any matter. "The Wealth of a Community" is the general subject for the four addresses scheduled for the Sunday evening services. The dates are as follows: May 10, "The Wealth of an Idea," May 17, "The Wealth of the Young," May 24, "The Wealth of the Nature," May 31, "The Wealth of Institutions." Mr. Voight is here to stay now, and will give his full time this conference year to this charge.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, May 13.—Alden Van Beneschoten has the foundation for his new cottage nearly finished. Sydney Clapp, of the water board, has had several large maples set out on his lot near Benjamin Secor's farm.

Very few of our farmers have done any plowing because of the wet weather. No use to plow our clay soil until it dries out fairly well.

The epidemic of measles and scarlet fever in the camp at Brown's has nearly ceased and the school teachers, Miss Clark and Miss Alliger, have returned.

Charles Green and Ephraim Weeks drove to Kerhonkson Monday on business.

Our storekeepers seem to be doing a heavy business these days. There is work aplenty on both the dam and boulevard and at quitting time our streets present a lively appearance.

Kenneth Bell has purchased a fine passenger Ford car from Alonzo Haver of Samsonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bell of Kingston drove to this place Sunday.

A girl baby has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks.

E. P. James has returned to his farm after spending the winter in New York.

James Giles and family have moved in William Secor's tenement.

The detour which starts at R. V. Longyear's place and meets the boulevard near Eichler's, is completed and a force of men are now engaged in constructing a detour from the viaduct to the railroad station on the city's property. Work on the boulevard is progressing rapidly at the several places where crushers have been set up. Hundreds of men are now employed on this job.

J. K. DuBois and John Every are making improvements to A. D. Winne's grounds.

George Lasher has opened his new meat, fish and vegetable market near the depot. Lasher has a very nice looking building and his place is very well located for business.

Pigs are very scarce in this section. It being almost impossible to get them at any price.

Rev. Henry Brink, who has accepted a call to the Woodstock Reformed Church, will be greatly missed by our people. Mr. Brink has been untiring in the work of reconstruction which the local church has passed through, and it is due largely to his efforts that we have the beautiful stone church building on the heights.

Postmaster Winchell is having a building erected near his store. It is said that Basil Cudney will open a meat market in the building when it is completed.

Earl Elmendorf is putting the finishing touches to his new house on Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harlow visited Mrs. Inez Dumont recently.

Judge Buswell has bought a car and is disposing of his wagon and harness.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winne of Haines Falls spent Sunday in town.

Augustus Green has planted his garden. Congratulations, Gus; you beat it.

Clarence Schoonmaker of Kingston was in town Friday.

Mrs. Thiel's cottage has been treated to a new coat of paint.

Several of our farmers bought a carload of lime recently. We are glad to see our farmers keep abreast of the times for their property helps everybody along.

Miss Ter Bush, teacher in the Ashokan school, who has been seriously ill, is much improved.

Mrs. Dunham's scholars will give an entertainment in Elmendorf Hall Thursday evening.

Fred Brooks gave another of his popular dances last week.

Alexander Peacock and son are busy setting out pine trees around the reservoir.

Jesse Weeks, who sowed one of his fingers off recently, is much better.

Rose Kemble and Louise Crispell spent Sunday with friends here.

Robert Bloom and Clyde Winchell seem to find some attraction up the line these nights. Pretty rough road, eh, boys?

Mrs. Scott's beautiful new house is ready for occupancy.

A. D. Winne, our hustling merchant, has made an addition to his store building.

Herbert Dibbell, Jr., has returned from Kingston, where he underwent an operation.

Alexander Peacock and son are very busy these days doing spring painting. We are glad to see our people take such an interest in the improvement of their properties. Keep up the good work.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, May 14.—Sunday school at 2 o'clock and preaching service at 3 on May 17. Everybody welcome.

The entertainment and ice cream social on Friday evening passed off very pleasantly.

Frank Beesmer of Rhinebeck and

Otis Bardin of Acorn Hill passed through the place on Saturday, en route to Verneoy Falls trout fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Kleek of Kingston visited their brother, George Van Kleek, on Sunday.

Virgil Shurter and daughter, Sylvia, went to Lyonsville to see Stephen Christians's children, who are recovering from measles.

Mr. and Mrs. John Beesmer of Krumville took dinner with Mrs. John Beesmer of this place on Sunday and attended the Sunday school in the afternoon.

Miss Empt returned last Sunday from the teachers' conference.

Kenneth Barley and sister, Clara, were out for a drive on Saturday afternoon.

A baby girl arrived at John Markle's on Friday evening and has been named Mildred.

Reginald Case and Mr. Leeper of Kingston called on LaFayette Moore on Saturday. They came on their bicycles by way of Brown's Station.

Miss Maud Shurter and friend were out for a ride on Sunday afternoon.

H. Barringer and daughter, Ruth, were shopping at Tongore one day last week and visited the store of F. Ennist.

Mrs. Freeman Roosa was out on Sunday, the first she has been to the village in a long time on account of illness. We are glad to see her looking so well.

The school building committee met at P. Shurter's on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Noah Baringer is not so well again.

Miss Florence Beesmer of Krumville has been visiting Miss Lillie Barringer and Miss Genevieve Moore.

Mrs. Sarah Smith is caring for Mrs. Barringer.

We are pleased to hear that Rachel E. Davis is so much improved as to be able to walk out of doors and do some light work.

Mr. and Mrs. Coddington and daughter of Stone Ridge visited at F. M. Davis's recently.

Mrs. Markle was called to see her father, John Swarthout, who was seriously ill.

Ralph Smith is working for his brother-in-law, W. Davis, at Ashokan.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, May 14.—The Rev. Mr. Brink, of the Ashokan Reformed Church, preached in the Reformed Church of this village Sunday evening. He expects to be the pastor of this Reformed Church in the near future.

The funeral services of Mrs. Hiram Cramer were held at the home of Edgar Russell on Monday at 2 p. m.

The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Sutherland, the Lutheran pastor, assisted by a former Lutheran pastor by the name of Mr. Fredericks.

Mrs. Cramer was 92 years of age and left behind her an honored memory.

We regret to learn that Rev. Mr. Sutherland contemplates leaving the pastorate of the Lutheran Church in the near future. He is a pastor of genuine worth and the community will miss him and his wife.

Granville Van Buren of Kingston has been drilling a well in the rear of the "Tea Room" and found water at the depth of 50 feet. The well in the cemetery is 53 feet. Mr. Carleson's well went down 180 feet before water was reached. The well on the place of Walter Weyl went down 427 feet before water was reached. When the cost of drilling is $2.50 a foot, a well of the latter depth costs something. The above wells were drilled by Mr. Van Buren.

Mr. Harder, the postmaster of the town, went to New Paltz Tuesday to take to the county home an old lady by the name of Amanda Everett. She formerly lived in Glenford and is 75 years of age. In her early years she was a school teacher.

Memorial Day is to be observed here as usual by an address and the decoration of graves of the soldiers.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, May 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mackey and daughter, Mabel Amy, visited Mrs. Reuben Mackey on Tuesday.

Sunday school on Sunday was largely attended, it being such a nice day. David Osterhoudt was superintendent.

Our teacher, Miss Divine, has taken as a position for the coming year, the principalship of the Accord school. We regret very much to lose her. Our loss will be Accord's gain.

Miss Dora Baker visited her friend, Miss Rayella Markle, on Saturday and Sunday.

The two selected for head of the Ladies Aid Society for the coming year in this place are Mrs. Charles B. Osterhoudt and Miss Edna Markle, two ladies who are well qualified for the position.

Charles Bell was employed by Reuben Mackey on Tuesday, with his engine and saw he saw a large quantity of wood.

Tuesday was fishermen's day in this place. Those who went to try their luck in the clear waters of the Mettacahton and Mombacous creeks were Preston Enderly, Harry Miller, Jacob Hornbeck, Charles Miller, Leslie Miller, Jacob Krom, Virgil Wood, Fred Hendrickson. By the way the people of this place should be proud of the Indian names tacked on to creeks and villages in this vicinity. Mettacahton, we understand, was named after an Indian prince, who lived in this region long before it knew the tread of white people. One of the fishermen was noticed to carry a pail along, probably to carry back the many fish he expected to catch. Of course there was no other purpose it could be used for.

Mr. and Mrs. Deroy Baker and Mrs. Mary Baker were in Kerhonkson on Friday.

Floyd Mackey visited Greenfield on Monday for Jesse Osterhoudt.

John Vandemark took by auto a crowd of young fellows from this place to the show at Kerhonkson on Saturday evening.

Advertisement of Dissolution.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between George Schantz and William E. Hapeman of the city of Kingston, county of Ulster, state of New York, under the firm name of Schantz and Hapeman, was dissolved on the thirteenth day of May, 1914, by mutual consent. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be paid by said George Schantz and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to him for payment at the city of Kingston, N. Y.

Dated at the city of Kingston, N. Y., May 14, 1914.

GEORGE SCHANTZ, WM. E. HAPEMAN.

FEDERAL LOSSES HEAVY AT TAMPICO

Fierce Fighting Preceded the Fall of the City and Few of the Federals Have Escaped—Constitutionalists in Complete Control of the North.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, May 14.—Tampico's fall has hastened the doom of President Huerta. The Constitutionalists are now in complete possession of the north and the scene of civil war is transferred to the south, with the rebels boasting that they will drive Huerta from power within a month.

With the capture of Tampico the Constitutionalists have gained a sea-port that will be of vast advantage to them. Through Tampico they expect to gain the munitions of war that were cut off by the renewal of the American embargo on the border.

The Federal defenders led by Gen. Zaragoza suffered terrific losses in the bloody conflict at the oil town. At least 3,000 Federals were killed or taken prisoners, according to the reports that have been received here. When the rebels opened their attack Gen. Zaragoza had 5,000 men. Only 2,000 are said to have made their escape on the Mexican Central train that had been made up in preparation for the evacuation of the city and the flight to San Luis Potosi.

The Constitutional loss was also heavy. It is estimated that from 1,500 to 2,000 rebels fell in the grand assault on the town after their artillery had battered a great hole in the fortifications of the city.

There is little prospect that the Federal troops who fled from the town will be able to make good their escape. The railroad to San Luis Potosi has been cut at Cardenas, 63 miles from San Luis Potosi and at that point the 2,000 Federals will have to take to the jungle to escape a large force of rebels under General Eulalio Gutierrez. It is believed that the Federals will be unable to make their way through the jungle and morass in that section.

Gen. Morelos Zaragoza, whose gallant defense of Tampico commanded even the admiration of the rebels, could not be found after the battle and it was not known whether he had been killed or not. It has frequently been the boast of this soldier that he would fight "until his last cartridge had been expended," so the theory was held by many that he had fallen among his followers.

The probability that his body would be found was made uncertain by the quick disposition of many of the Federal corpses. Some were smeared with crude petroleum and burned, others were dumped into trenches filled with quick lime while still others were cast into the Panuco river and borne into the sea upon the bloody oil covered waters of this stream.

The desperate hand to hand fight which smashed the final defenses of the Federals ended an attack which had begun last Friday night and went on intermittently until the city fell.

At times the firing was terrific with all the artillery and small arms on both sides engaged. Then it would die away until the stillness was broken only by scattered rifle shots between the outposts. The rebels kept advancing inch by inch, moving forward their artillery and throwing up fresh breastworks as they did so. They were able to seize the peninsula lying between Tampico proper and the Gulf of Mexico on the west and planted batteries from which they shelled the three Federal gunboats lying in Panuco river.

All the territory on both sides of the lagoon north of the city was held by the rebels and their outposts extended almost completely along the western side.

The three Mexican gunboats were at anchor with the Bravo nearest the Gulf, then came the Zaragoza while the Vera Cruz was anchored west of the city where the Tampos river flows into the Panuco.

Day after day the shore batteries of the Constitutionalists alternated their fire, directing it first against the gunboats, then against the city.

One shell set fire to a tank owned by the Eagle Oil Company and this blazed for two days and two nights. Under its stifling glare the battle went on at night and under its pall of dreary smoke the fighting continued through the day.

The Federals occupied a strategic position in a cemetery about a mile west of the Plaza de Armas. They had built barricades of bags of sand and tomb stones, but the cemetery was a new one and there was not many gravestones for such utilization.

So fierce was the Federal fire from this position that Gen. Gonzales decided to take it by storm. Under cover of darkness he ordered a rebel detachment to drive the Federals from their position in the cemetery.

With their hands full of grenades the rebels charged upon the breastworks, but were met with a fire that sent them reeling backwards.

Again they charged, and got a partial foothold within the Federal lines. After a bloody hand to hand struggle the Constitutionalists were driven off leaving many dead and dying behind.

The rebels stationed on the strip between the mouth of the Panuco and Tampico proper waited for the time to fight their way into the city. Once they got as far as the custom house and the machine guns, but the federals poured such a deadly fire that the rebel ranks that ening of the federal firing, indicating a shortage of ammunition. This proved true.

Gen. Zaragoza then went among his troops cautioning them to be sparing with their ammunition. "Make every bullet count" said the sturdy fighter.

Gen. Zaragoza was living up to all military traditions of bravery. He had not had his uniform of since the fight started. His face and hands were grimy with dirt and burned powder. He was haggard from loss of sleep and the anxiety of responsibility, but the blaze of battle burned in his eyes and he was able to inspire his men to the very last.

At times when the fight on the eastern side of the city became hot, Zaragoza went among his men, rifle in hand, firing at the attacking troops.

Finally the Constitutionalists were able to gain a foothold in the northern and eastern sides of the city simultaneously. Firing from buildings they moved toward the heart of the city. Meanwhile the batteries at La Barra Donna Cecilia kept up a terrific fire, to cover the infantry advance. Shells tore through the spires of churches sending clouds of debris into the street. Pieces of shrapnel crashed through windows and roofs. Above the shouts of the combatants and the drowning din of musketry fire the steady thunder of the artillery continued unceasingly. Sharpshooters firing from the ramparts of houses would suddenly spin around clutching the air and hurl downwards to the street.

Fire broke out, but the soldiers made no effort to check the blaze. The battle lust in their hearts gave them only one thought and that was to kill.

As Zaragoza's men were driven in, the general saw that defeat was inevitable. He prepared for flight but at the same time kept his firing line extended and his men as well, supplied with ammunition as his slender store afforded.

Soldiers without cartridges went to the tops of houses with missiles in their hands and hurled these downward on the hands of the advancing rebels. Freight cars were made up into trains and locomotives were attached while the remnants of the Federals were concentrating in the Plaza de Armas. Detachments which were cut off from the main body were driven into the Panuco river and drowned or shot down as they begged for mercy. The Constitutionalists gave no quarter nor did the Federals where they had a chance to exercise their thirst for blood.

The surface of the water was thick with crude oil from the oil fields west of the city and stank with a nauseating odor.

One party of Federals took refuge in the new Southern hotel, firing from behind the pillars of the veranda and from the roof and windows. With a wild yell, the rebels rushed the building shooting down the defenders.

Both sides fought with a stubbornness and courage which made this one of the bloodiest fights of the Mexican Civil War.

Exhausted from fighting and lack of food and with their ammunition gone, the Federals had to give way. Some were able to take refuge on the prepared freight trains, but hundreds fled into the swampy jungles southwest of the city where they were pursued by Constitutionalists sent out by General Gonzales and General Luis Caballero.

Throwing away guns in their flight, the soldiers plunged into the morasses where they sank to their knees into the black, oil-soaked mud.

A troop of rebel cavalrymen tried to pursue the Federals but had to turn back for the horses sank to their bellies in the mire and the men were helpless.

Gonzales then swung a battery of artillery into place and began hurling shells after the fleeing Federals, but it is likely that the natural difficulties encountered by the fugitives were more deadly than the artillery fire.

Tampico was a city of horrors after the battle. The buildings were torn by the artillery fire and the streets were choked with dead and wounded. Fire raged and from the sand hills around the city firing could still be heard where the rebels were running down little bands of Federals in the scrub and shooting them to death.

Some of the Federals were able to make their way to the Mexican gunboats which began dropping down the river toward the gulf.

Despite the efforts of their officers, rebel soldiers began looting. They broke into the barrooms of the hotels and made off with quantities of liquor. The boarded windows of shops were broken open and goods stolen.

One of the most picturesque figures among the victors was Jack Von Tarnhelm, an American soldier of fortune, holding with him Kansas City. Von Tarnhelm commanded 15 rebel field pieces and had been used as an emissary by General Gonzales in communicating with Admiral Mayo, because of his knowledge of English and military usage.

Vets Going to Newburgh.

The famous basketball tossers of Colonial Camp, No. 75, Spanish War Veterans, will play the team of Hudson B. Moore Camp, No. 78, of Newburgh, at the Newburgh armory this evening. Members of Colonial Camp and their wives will leave on the 5:45 o'clock West Shore train for the hilly city. Following the game a banquet will be served the visitors by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Newburgh Camp. The local ball tossers will take along the camp physician and will also have a war correspondent on the job. A good fast game is expected and it is hoped that owing to probability of war with Mexico that no fatalities may occur this evening.

Judgment for Bloomer.

An inquest was taken in the action brought by Howard Bloomer against the Bryant Motor Company in supreme court this morning before Judge Chester and a judgment in favor of Mr. Bloomer was rendered for $113.03, being the amount of the bill for wood sold and delivered to the defendant at Highland. A. D. & A. W. Lent represented Mr. Bloomer.

Gen. Zaragoza was living up to all military traditions of bravery. He had not had his uniform off since the fight started. His face and hands were grimy with dirt and burned powder. He was haggard from loss of sleep and the anxiety of responsibility, but the blaze of battle burned in his eyes and he was able to inspire his men to the very last.

At times when the fight on the eastern side of the city became hot, Zaragoza went among his men, rifle in hand, firing at the attacking troops.

Finally the Constitutionalists were able to gain a foothold in the northern and eastern sides of the city simultaneously. Firing from buildings they moved toward the heart of the city. Meanwhile the batteries at La Barra Donna Cecilia kept up a terrific fire, to cover the infantry advance. Shells tore through the spires of churches sending clouds of debris into the street. Pieces of shrapnel crashed through windows and roofs. Above the shouts of the combatants and the drowning din of musketry fire the steady thunder of the artillery continued unceasingly. Sharpshooters firing from the ramparts of houses would suddenly spin around clutching the air and hurtle downwards to the street.

Fire broke out, but the soldiers made no effort to check the blaze. The battle lust in their hearts gave them only one thought and that was to kill.

As Zaragoza's men were driven in, the general saw that defeat was inevitable. He prepared for flight but at the same time kept his firing line extended and his men as well, supplied with ammunition as his slender store afforded.

Soldiers without cartridges went to the tops of houses with missiles in their hands and hurled these downward on the hands of the advancing rebels. Freight cars were made up into trains and locomotives were attached while the remnants of the Federals were concentrating in the Plaza de Armas. Detachments which were cut off from the main body were driven into the Panuco river and drowned or shot down as they begged for mercy. The Constitutionalists gave no quarter nor did the Federals where they had a chance to exercise their thirst for blood.

The surface of the water was thick with crude oil from the oil fields west of the city and stank with a nauseating odor.

One party of Federals took refuge in the new Southern hotel, firing from behind the pillars of the veranda and from the roof and windows. With a wild yell, the rebels rushed the building shooting down the defenders.

Both sides fought with a stubbornness and courage which made this one of the bloodiest fights of the Mexican Civil War.

Exhausted from fighting and lack of food and with their ammunition gone, the Federals had to give way. Some were able to take refuge on the prepared freight trains but hundreds fled into the swampy jungles southwest of the city where they were pursued by Constitutionalists sent out by General Gonzales and General Luis Caballero.

Throwing away guns in their flight, the soldiers plunged into the morasses where they sank to their knees into the black, oil-soaked mud.

A troop of rebel cavalrymen tried to pursue the Federals but had to turn back for the horses sank to their bellies in the mire and the men were helpless.

Gonzales then swung a battery of artillery into place and began hurling shells after the fleeing Federals, but it is likely that the natural difficulties encountered by the fugitives were more deadly than the artillery fire.

Tampico was a city of horrors after the battle. The buildings were torn by the artillery fire and the streets were choked with dead and wounded. Fire raged and from the sand hills around the city firing could still be heard where the rebels were running down little bands of Federals in the scrub and shooting them to death.

Some of the Federals were able to make their way to the Mexican gunboats which began dropping down the river toward the Gulf.

Despite the efforts of their officers, rebel soldiers began looting. They broke into the barrooms of the hotels and made off with quantities of liquor. The boarded windows of shops were broken open and goods stolen.

One of the most picturesque figures among the victors was Jack Von Tarenheim, an American soldier of fortune, hailing from Kansas City. Von Tarenheim commanded 15 rebel field pieces and had been used as an emissary by General Gonzales in communicating with Admiral Mayo, because of his knowledge of English and military usage.

Vets Going to Newburgh. The famous basketball tossers of Colonial Camp, No. 75, Spanish War Veterans, will play the team of Hudson B. Moore Camp, No. 78, of Newburgh, at the Newburgh armory this evening. Members of Colonial Camp and their wives will leave on the 5:45 o'clock West Shore train for the hilly city. Following the game a banquet will be served the visitors by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Newburgh Camp. The local ball tossers will take along the camp physician and will also have a war correspondent on the job. A good fast game is expected and it is hoped that owing to probability of war with Mexico that no fatalities may occur this evening.

Judgment for Bloomer. An inquest was taken in the action brought by Howard Bloomer against the Bryant Motor Company in supreme court this morning before Judge Chester and a judgment in favor of Mr. Bloomer was rendered for $118.03, being the amount of the bill for wood sold and delivered to the defendant at Highland. A. D. & A. W. Lent represented Mr. Bloomer.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. A. L. Decker of Smith avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Nina Ethel, to John Sanford Watson, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Chubbuck of No. 100 O'Neil street entertained a number of friends at progressive pinocle in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Towne of Albany on Tuesday evening. Dainty refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening was passed.

Miss Nina Decker was tendered a linen shower on Tuesday evening at her home, 8 Smith avenue, by the members of her Sunday school class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. Many handsome and beautiful gifts were received and the evening was delightfully spent with music and games. At a late hour light refreshments were served.

Once more the members of the Federation of Women's Clubs are urged to be prompt in their attendance at the general meeting which will be held at the chapel of the First Reformed Dutch Church at 2 o'clock on Saturday of this week. The charming program which will include musical selections by Mrs. John Haldane Flagler, contralto, the soprano of the Church of the Ascension together with an accompanist from New York, and an address on "Poetry" by the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, D. D., of the Church of the Ascension, will open the meeting and the reports and election of officers will follow the program, the afternoon closing with the serving of refreshments.

Artistic Concert.

A remarkably fine program, remarkably well rendered, together with an equally fine and appreciative audience, and an auditorium whose acoustics were preeminently satisfactory, combined to make of the Symphony Society concert last evening a great success, especially from the artistic viewpoint. In welcoming the audience for the orchestra, Mrs. C. N. Reed, reminded them that the aim and ideal of the orchestra was purely cultural, the creating of a musical vehicle that should convey to its listeners the best compositions of the world's best musicians of all time, in order that the people of Kingston and vicinity might become familiar with such music as should stamp them as cultured musicians. A musical education was shown to be no longer the mere ability to play some instrument or sing, but a familiarity with the great works of Schubert, Mozart, Beethoven, etc., as one with any literary education would have a knowledge of Browning, Tennyson, Shakespeare, etc. This ideal was being reached after through just such programs as the one for the evening. The instruments of the orchestra were then briefly shown and explained as to their part and color effect in the orchestra.

The program opened with the overture from von Weber's "Oberon," one of the favorite overtures of the world over. The demands which this charming composition makes upon both conductor and musicians are very considerable, and yet, opening number though it was, it was one of the best of the evening. A precision of attack and release were noted, both important in this case. Throughout the entire concert there was a rarely true pitch maintained; the shading was exceptionally fine for musicians far more experienced than our own, and a careful following of a masterful conducting by George H. Muller, director. Judging from the enthusiastic applause, the audience fully appreciated all this.

Finesse of feeling and beautiful tonal effects are demanded of the Schubert "Unfinished Symphony," and among the musicians present in the audience the sentiment prevailed that the second movement of this symphony was one of the best numbers on the program.

Quite in contrast was the group of short numbers, and their pronounced rhythms and shading were well brought out.

Mason L. Cline, concert-master of the orchestra, made his first appearance before a Kingston audience last evening as a soloist. He played the brilliant, intricate and varied "Zigeunerweisen" (Gypsy spirit) by Sarasate, and he proved himself to be a real artist. The technical demands of this composition, exceedingly difficult though they are, seemed not to trouble Mr. Cline, whose crispness, delicacy and breadth of tone and finished interpretation so delighted the audience that they insisted upon an encore. Finally Mr. Cline was persuaded to play the charming Plerrot Serenade by Randiger, and again the audience were delighted.

It is the custom of the orchestra to repeat at each concert, a number from the previous concert, and the repeated number on this occasion was the last movement from the famous "Fifth Symphony" by Beethoven. This wonderful composition, while putting tremendous demands upon the orchestra, particularly the contrabasses, was given a rendition that amazed all present. In its repetition a double purpose was served, it not only familiarized the audience with the work, but it showed the vast strides forward which the orchestra has made since last February.

The closing number was the march from "Lenore," by Raff, a ghostly, yet an insistent and fascinating composition. Last number though it was, it was played with an appreciation and finish that surprised and delighted all.

Appreciative though the audience certainly was, it is doubtful if they could fully realize all it had meant in hard work, a vast expenditure of time and study on the part of conductor and musicians to present such a concert. And what do they gain? The pleasure and profit of the inspiring work together and the appreciation of the people of Kingston. So far, nothing more. Now they have something to ask of the public. Not money for themselves, they are so possessed of the true artistic spirit that they do not ask that. But they do ask such a liberal financial support of the community as to relieve them of all anxiety as to the necessary expenses of the organization, such as rent, scores, and such additional expenses as will arise with the growth and development of the work. For the orchestra will at once begin rehearsing for the future.

The public rehearsal in the afternoon was well attended by school children and those who were present were remarkably quiet, attentive and appreciative. It is, however, a pity that such an advantage as these public school rehearsals with the admission only 10 cents, is not better appreciated by the children of our schools, for they represent a musical education which at our great conservatories of music costs a deal of money to acquire. Parents do not yet realize all that these concerts may mean to their children later in life, but they will more and more come to know their value.

The orchestra feel that they are indeed greatly indebted to Father Hickey for the use of the fine, new school hall for both the afternoon and evening concert of May 13, 1914, and publicly express their thanks and appreciation.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

The 94 Franklin cars in the fuel economy test showed an average of 32.8 miles on one gallon of gasoline. As the records were all made on the same day, May 1, in all parts of the country, different weather conditions were met. For instance, in lower California and Texas there was rain and it was fairly warm. In the Upper Peninsula of Michigan there was twelve inches of snow, while the evening before the test it had snowed all evening in Maine. Throughout the day was windy and in many places quite cold. The highest record of the test was made in Milwaukee, 51.2 miles on one gallon of gasoline. This was nearly reached in Cumberland, Maryland, where the Franklin car went 50.9 miles. Eleven cars went over forty miles, while forty-eight made greater than the average of 32.8 miles. The lowest record of 17.2 miles was made in Georgetown, Texas, in deep mud and rain. Many of the dealers measured the oil consumption on the test. For instance, in Baltimore where the gasoline mileage was 36 the oil consumption figured out 1,100 miles to the gallon.

The closing number was the march from "Lenore," by Raff, a ghostly, yet an insistent and fascinating composition. Last number though it was, it was played with an appreciation and finish that surprised and delighted all.

Appreciative though the audience certainly was, it is doubtful if they could fully realize all it had meant in hard work, a vast expenditure of time and study on the part of conductor and musicians to present such a concert. And what do they gain? The pleasure and profit of the inspiring work together and the appreciation of the people of Kingston. So far, nothing more. Now they have something to ask of the public. Not money for themselves, they are so possessed of the true artistic spirit that they do not ask that. But they do ask such a liberal financial support of the community as to relieve them of all anxiety as to the necessary expenses of the organization, such as rent, scores, and such additional expenses as will arise with the growth and development of the work. For the orchestra will at once begin rehearsing for the future.

The public rehearsal in the afternoon was well attended by school children and those who were present were remarkably quiet, attentive and appreciative. It is, however, a pity that such an advantage as these public school rehearsals with the admission only 10 cents, is not better appreciated by the children of our schools, for they represent a musical education which at our great conservatories of music costs a deal of money to acquire. Parents do not yet realize all that these concerts may mean to their children later in life, but they will more and more come to know their value.

The orchestra feel that they are indeed greatly indebted to Father Hickey for the use of the fine, new school hall for both the afternoon and evening concert of May 13, 1914, and publicly express their thanks and appreciation.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

The 94 Franklin cars in the fuel economy test showed an average of 32.8 miles on one gallon of gasoline. As the records were all made on the same day, May 1, in all parts of the country, different weather conditions were met. For instance, in lower California and Texas there was rain and it was fairly warm. In the Upper Peninsula of Michigan there was twelve inches of snow, while the evening before the test it had snowed all evening in Maine. Throughout the day was windy and in many places quite cold. The highest record of the test was made in Milwaukee, 51.2 miles on one gallon of gasoline. This was nearly reached in Cumberland, Maryland, where the Franklin car went 50.9 miles. Eleven cars went over forty miles while forty-eight made greater than the average of 32.8 miles. The lowest record of 17.2 miles was made in Georgetown, Texas, in deep mud and rain. Many of the dealers measured the oil consumption on the test. For instance, in Baltimore where the gasoline mileage was 36 the oil consumption figured out 1,100 miles to the gallon.

GARBAGE COLLECTING.

Three Times a Week Hereafter Under the New Schedule.

Street Superintendent W. Scott Van Keuren has a notice in the Freeman this evening calling attention to a change in the method of collecting garbage or "swill." Heretofore there have been two collections a week but Mr. Van Keuren has rearranged the districts and there will now be three collections a week. The attention of householders is called to this notice so there may be no complaints of the service of the street department.

Roosting on a Porch.

Joseph Carroll, aged 72 years, was arrested on Wednesday night by Policeman Snyder for being on the porch of Samuel Gray's residence on Albany avenue. Previously to his arrest the officer had been notified by two boys, who said they lived in New York, that an old man had made an indecent proposal to them. Carroll, who first gave his name as Carson, and his residence as Oneonta, had taken off his shoes and apparently was content to roost on the porch for the night. As he appeared to be not too strong mentally but harmless he was discharged by the court and warned to get out of town.

Minstrels Were a Success.

The young men's Athletic Club of St. John's Church which recently gave such a fine minstrel performance in St. John's Parish House, has this week been entertaining others. On Tuesday evening they gave part of their program at the Sunday school rooms of the Fair Street Reformed Church, where they delighted their audience. Last evening they repeated their full program with additional songs and dances at the Sabler Sanatorium. They played to a full house and a splendid one which was kept in a state of excitement from start to finish. In return for their evening of fun, the young men added a neat sum to their funds.

Tomato Waives Examination.

The case of the People against Rigelio Tomato, arrested for assault and battery on a woman, was set for a full trial in court this morning. William D. Brimmer appeared for the defendant and waived examination to have the case passed on by the grand jury. Andrew J. Cook represented the complainant. The story goes that the two parties had a quarrel over fifty cents in a Chambers street saloon and went outside to fight when the defendant pulled a knife and slashed the negro.

Monogram's New Battery.

The Colonial's star battery composed of Luedtke and Westfall, the battery that hurled the Colonials to victory over the fast Hurley team by a score of 6 to 1, have signed with the fast Red Monogram Jrs., of this city and will be seen in action Sunday afternoon when the Monograms line up against the fast Crescent nine of this city on Andrew street. Moxen the Crescent's star twiler will be on the mound for them and the Monograms will have to go at it fast to beat the mighty Moxen as the Crescents call him. Manager Simpson says that his boys are in fine playing form and they ought to gain the victory over the fast Crescents.

Gambling Machine Seized.

Sergeant Murray on Wednesday seized a gambling device in a barber shop on Main street and took it to the city hall. It is what is known as a nickel-in-the-slot machine. The owner of the barber shop disclaimed ownership of it. The police secured an adjournment of the case until Monday, hoping in the meantime to find the owner. There are two courses open to the police, either report the matter to the district attorney on finding the owner or else begin proceedings to have the machine destroyed.

Grading High School Grounds.

The contractor on the new high school on Broadway has begun the work of grading the grounds in front of the building and considerable stone and sand is being carted to fill up the depressions. The brick walls are rising rapidly and soon the yellow front brick with which the school will be built will be laid.

Lost Boy Found.

It was reported to the police Wednesday that a boy named Lawatsch, aged 3 years, had wandered away from home during the day. A good description was furnished the police but he was found later and taken to his home.

BRILLIANT OPENING OF FORMAN'S NEW UP-TO-DATE CLOAK and Suit STORE

Bargain Guns Will be Roaring Saturday at 316 Wall St.

The new, the beautiful, the rich, the necessary and unique things of feminine dress and adornment are here on display. The curtain will be drawn aside Saturday, revealing to the public of Kingston and Ulster county a style show of entrancing loveliness, the equal of which has seldom, if ever, been seen in this city. The stamp of freshness is noticeable everywhere. Looking or buying, you are welcome to come and become acquainted with the charming outer apparel that is delightful and pleasing to woman's eye. The magnificent merchandise welcomes a look.

We are about to turn the first page in our business history, and in doing so we realize that it is no small thing to possess the confidence and generous good-will of the people of this community. In the weeks to come we shall endeavor to show appreciation of this confidence by giving the sort of good service and helpfulness which our patrons may expect of us—yes, even a little better service than might be asked from a store that promises to become a very lively youngster.

In making our bow to the public we promise to labor cheerfully and earnestly to make this store worthy of the people's favorable verdict. We feel that to pay what we shall owe to the generosity and loyal store friendship of those who may become our patrons will keep us busy pushing this enterprise further along the road of progress.

We hope to see Sunday morning dawn without a single disappointment to be charged against us after our first Saturday's business in Kingston. No efforts have been spared to that end. We have reason to believe that such a result will be closely approximated. From the beginning it will be our policy to recognize two sides to every transaction—and the side that insures perfect and permanent satisfaction to the customer will be to us more important than that which deals with profits.

Every salesperson employed by us will put her or his shoulder to the wheel in a determined effort to see that there shall be no public disappointment.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 14.—There was a general buying of many of the important issues at the opening of the market today and gains were made, ranging in size from substantial fractions to three points. American Petroleum showed the best strength, opening at 59 against 56 the close last night. Buying of stock indicated that traders were of opinion that the market was in a bullish condition. The situation in the American situation was bullish. The situation of Tampico by the Mexican Constitutionalists is expected to hasten the fall of Gen. Huerta and hasten the climax in the Mexican situation. The heaviest trading was in United States Steel Common which began at 59 for again of 1/2 and rapidly went to 60. There was a wide opening in Missouri Pacific. The first transactions were recorded at one thousand shares at from 18 to 18 1/2. This represented a net gain of 1/2. The copper stocks were prominent. Amalgamated Copper began 1/2 higher but at the end of the hour had increased its net advance to 1/4. A gain of 1/2 was scored by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Union Pacific advanced a point on good demand from London and American traders. Canadian Pacific after beginning unchanged advanced 1/2. Among the other gains were the following: Southern Pacific, 1/2; Great Northern Pfd., 1/2; Reading, 1/2; N. Y. C. & Erie, 1/2; and B. & O. T. The tone was strong and at the end of 30 minutes a number of issues had increased their opening gains. The curb was firm. Americans in London were featureless.

Noon.—Increased strength was shown in all the important issues after the initial advances and additional gains were made during the rest of the forenoon. United States Steel Common rose to 60 1/2 against 59 1/2 at the opening. Amalgamated Copper sold up 1/2. Union Pacific advanced 1/2 and Reading 1/2. Other issues made substantial fractional advances. Call money loaning at 1 1/2. Stocks continued to rise in the last hour, many standard issues were above the noon range. Steel sold at 60 1/2 for a net gain of 1 1/2 on the day, while a similar gain was made by Reading. Southern Pacific sold around 92 1/2 against 91 at the close yesterday. Missouri Pacific shaded its best, but held above 18. Canadian Pacific held above 192. The tone was strong.

The stock market closed strong; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

HURLEY.

Hurley, May 14.—The village improvement society met the middle of last week and decided to oil the street the coming season. The steady stream of automobiles passing through the village keeps up a constant cloud of dust and to protect themselves and to enable themselves to live "in happiness," the people must oil. James Lockwood has the matter in charge and is meeting with pleasing success in getting subscriptions. The oil will not be applied to the street until the amount necessary is raised.

Miss Grace and Miss Blanche Kline opened up their summer home for the week end.

Arbor day was duly and fittingly celebrated by the school children in accordance with the regulations of the education requirements. Rakes, shovels and brooms added to the grounds in order very quickly. The Turnpike school, under Miss Hiller, joined with the Hurley school, under Miss Buchanan and Miss Rudnikie in a charming picnic to the pine woods, where the afternoon was most delightfully passed.

William Mason made a stay of a day or so at his home on the Marlborough road last week.

Mrs. Nash has gone to New York for the week.

The ladies of the village church are planning for a two days fair in the early part of August. Definite plans have not as yet been made but there will be, besides the usual attractions of a fair, two features that will be appreciated by all. One is a fine supper which will be served one evening while on the other evening there will be a special entertainment.

KYSERIKE.

Kyserike, May 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Smith spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gasley at Accord.

The Rev. Mr. Smith spent Saturday and Sunday with Ira Baker and family.

Mrs. Lizzie Markle and daughter, May, spent Friday in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Siah Davis are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a young daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Conner and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Van Demark and family of Kripplushush called on Mr. and Mrs. Orr E. Christiansa on Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Davis visited Mrs. Susan Van Leuven on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roosa spent Wednesday at Kingston.

Mrs. John M. Roosa and niece, Maude Beatty, spent from Saturday until Monday at Newburgh.

Miss Hazel Lyons of Kripplushush spent Saturday and Sunday with her cousin, Miss Mildred Green.

Percy and Sherman Barley visited at the home of James O. Green on Sunday.

The lecture on China which was given at the Lyonsville Church on Sunday evening by the Rev. Mr. Smith proved very interesting.

Mrs. Charles Davis called on Mr. and Mrs. Claude Stokes on Tuesday evening. While there a heavy thunder shower came and raised the creek so the water was over the road. Mrs. Davis was compelled to stay all night.

Miss Maude Oakley spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Maude Christiansa.

Arbor Day exercises were held at the Lyonsville school house on Friday morning. In the afternoon a ball game was played between the Lyonsville and Kromville boys at Kromville. The two teams expect to play again on Friday afternoon, May 16, at Kromville.

John L. Deput visited Accord on Wednesday.

Claude Christiansa has the measles. Mrs. Sarah E. DeWitt and Mrs. Fred L. Roosa spent Wednesday at Kingston.

John Corra, proprietor of Pine Bush Hotel, visited Kingston on Wednesday.

Thatched Huts Are of the Past. The disappearance of the picturesque roofs of Samoan huts is attributed to the increasing wealth of the natives and the partial destruction by insects of the wild sugar cane used for the thatch. Corrugated iron is taking the place of the old material.

Brown, Pittsburgh, imperial assistant rabban; Benjamin W. Rowell, Boston, imperial treasurer; Charles E. Ovenshire, Minneapolis, imperial recorder; Elias J. Jacoby, Indianapolis, imperial high priest and prophet; Free-land Kendrick, Philadelphia, imperial oriental guide; James S. McCandless, Honolulu, imperial marshal, elected after the unexpected resignation of William J. Mathews, of New York.

The great sashem of this reservation has granted Wawarsing Tribe, No. 323, of the Improved Order of Red Men, a dispensation to initiate pale faces into this tribe for the sum of five fathoms ($5) until July 1, 1914. This is considered a rare opportunity for pale faces to join this great fraternity, whose origin dates back to 1762, when the Sons of Liberty paved the way for that great immortal act, the Declaration of Independence, and from that society they merged into St. Tamina up to 1813, when it took another title called the Society of Red Men, formed at Fort Mifflin. In 1833 the order changed its name to the Improved Order of Red Men, at Baltimore, Maryland, and created for its motto, "Freedom, friendship, charity."

There may be some statesman who had rather be right than president, but there are others who seem to have no ambition in either direction.—Washington Herald.

Navigation Notes.

The Cornell Steamboat Company has sold the tugs Princess and Bismarck, which were originally owned by the American Ice Company, to parties in New York. They will be used in towing mud scows to sea.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The Kingston Egg Company has installed a New York Telephone of a new call, the call at present being 22 F 3.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Peter's Holy Name Society will be held this evening at the school hall at 8 o'clock.

There will be no prayer services this evening in a number of the Protestant Churches so as to give an opportunity of the members of the congregations to attend the session of Chautauqua at the armory.

Thackeray's Salute.

Of that form of eccentricity closely related to egotism, whereby many of the world's greatest artists and writers have conveyed to us their appreciation of their own work, a most interesting case is that of Thackeray, ordinarily a most modest man. But there is good authority that Thackeray never passed the house in Russell square wherein he lived when he wrote "Vanity Fair" without raising his hat—a tribute from himself to his great work.

The Llama.

The story of the name of the South American llama is interesting. "Come see llama?" (What is its name?) asked the early Spanish adventurers of the Peruvians. The natives, not understanding, merely echoed the last word of the question and the name has stuck through the centuries.

HURLEY.

Hurley, May 14.—The village improvement society met the middle of last week and decided to oil the street the coming season. The steady stream of automobiles passing through the village keeps up a constant cloud of dust and to protect themselves and to enable themselves to live "in happiness," the people must oil. James Lockwood has matter in charge and is meeting with pleasing success in getting subscriptions. The oil will not be applied to the street until the amount necessary is raised.
Miss Grace and Miss Blanche Kline opened up their summer home for the week end.
Arbor day was duly and fittingly celebrated by the school children in accordance with the regulations of the education requirements. Rakes, shovels and brooms added to the energy of the school children put the turnpike in order very quickly. The Turnpike school, under Miss Hiller, joined with the Hurley school, under Miss Buchanan and Miss Rudnikie in a charming picnic to the pine woods, where the afternoon was most delightfully passed.
William Nash made a stay of a day or so at his home on the Marlborough road last week.
Mrs. Nash has gone to New York for the week.
The ladies of the village church are planning for a two days fair in the early part of August. Definite plans have not as yet been made but there will be, besides the usual amusements of a fair, two features that will be appreciated by all. One is a fine supper which will be served one evening while on the other evening there will be a special entertainment.

KYSERKE.

Kyserke, May 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Smith spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gasley at Accord.
The Rev. Mr. Smith spent Saturday and Sunday with Ira Baker and family.
Mrs. Lizzie Markle and daughter, May, spent Friday in Kingston.
Mr. and Mrs. Siah Davis are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a young daughter.
Mr. and Mrs. Uriah Conner and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Van Demark and family of Kripplush called on Mr. and Mrs. Orr E. Christians on Sunday.
Mrs. Charles Davis visited Mrs. Susan Van Leuven on Tuesday.
Mr. and Mrs. John Roosa spent Wednesday at Kingston.
Mrs. John M. Roosa and niece, Maude Beatty, spent from Saturday until Monday at Newburgh.
Miss Hazel Lyons of Kripplush spent Saturday and Sunday with her cousin, Miss Mildred Green.
Alfred Lounsbury assisted by his nephew, James Lounsbury, are building a large chicken house.
Percy and Sherman Barley visited at the home of James O. Green on Sunday.
The lecture on China which was given at the Lyonsville Church on Sunday evening by the Rev. Mr. Smith proved very interesting.
Mr. Charles Davis called on Mr. and Mrs. Claude Stokes on Tuesday evening. While there a heavy thunder shower came and raised the creek so the water was over the road. Mrs. Davis was compelled to stay all night.
Miss Maude Oakley spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Maude Christiansa.
Arbor Day exercises were held at the Lyonsville school house on Friday morning. In the afternoon a ball game was played between the Lyonsville and Kromville boys at Kromville. The two teams expect to play again on Friday afternoon, May 15, at Kromville.
John I. Depuy visited Accord on Wednesday.
Claude Christiansa has the measles.
Mrs. Sarah E. DeWitt and Mrs. Fred L. Roosa spent Wednesday at Kingston.
John Corra, proprietor of Pine Bush Hotel, visited Kingston on Wednesday.

Thatched Huts Are of the Past.
The disappearance of the picturesque roofs of Samoan huts is attributed to the increasing wealth of the natives and the partial destruction by insects of the wild sugar cane used for the thatch. Corrugated iron is taking the place of the old material.

How His Mind Ran.
Senior—"What do you think of the Culebra cut?" Freshman—"Well—I never tried it. The sophs won't let me smoke a pipe."—Pelican.

What He Meant.
Housewife—"Why don't you get a job and keep it?" Hobo—"I'm like de little bird dat keeps flyin' from limb to limb. Housewife—"G'wan! You're only a bum! How could you fly from limb to limb?" Hobo—"I mean de limbs o' de law, mum."

Ellenville, May 14.—There was a large attendance of the congregation and friends at St. John's Episcopal Church Sunday evening, when the Right Rev. Henry Sumner Burch, D. D., Bishop Suffragan, of New York, was present and administered confirmation to a class of twenty-four persons. It was a very beautiful and impressive service throughout. The large surplised choir to the number of forty led by their rector, the Rev. H. P. Hobson, D. D., marched from the waiting room through the center aisle of the church singing, and took their places in the choir, and with their organist, Miss Nellie Hobson, rendered very beautiful music during the service. At the close of the confirmation service, Dr. Burch delivered a most excellent sermon, which was enjoyed to the profit of all in attendance. During the offertory a young lady guest of Mrs. Dr. Vrooman sang a very sweet and touching solo, "Face to Face," which was well received. The service was brought to a close by the choir with Dr. Burch and Dr. Hobson singing as they marched away down the center aisle to the waiting room, and the congregation was then dismissed.

The members of St. John's Guild were very pleasantly entertained by Mrs. E. S. Carver at her home on Park street on Monday afternoon. After the work and business session very delicious refreshments were served, and a social hour followed.
Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Divine have returned home from a very delightful trip to the Pacific coast, and report during their stay in California a very pleasant season without rain. DuBois Collins of Bloomingburgh spent Sunday with his father, Thomas H. Collins, on Park street.
Engineer P. E. Clark has been surveying and laying out in thirty-four building lots the property of William J. Denman at Napanoch, which are being offered for sale. This is a fine opportunity for prospective builders in Napanoch.
William C. Fater, village treasurer, is receiving at the First National Bank, during banking hours, the village taxes for ten days without fees from May 7. For thirty days following, a fee of 1 per cent.
Secretary Thompson announces the following fair privileges have been let at a good advance over last year: Frankfurters, John Trapp; soft drinks, Kuhlman Brewing Company; merry go round, milk shake, candy, pop corn, ice cream, A. E. Divine, Parkville.
Electric lights are to be installed in the Lutheran Church parsonage, Albert Wolf to do the work.
Raymond D. Cookingham has engaged H. S. Lovely, of fourteen years' experience, for automobile repairing at his garage at the Wayside Inn and at the Mitchell House garage.
Many friends will be pleased to learn of the improved condition of Mrs. A. E. Cooley, who has been seriously ill at the Topping Sanitarium on Tuthill Lane.
John M. Watson of North Main street has sold his fine matched team of road horses to John McDowell.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, May 14.—What ails Walter Johnson? seems to be a subject in which the nation is more vitally interested than in Mexico. The Panama tolls question or anything else.

The poor showing made so far by the Washington "speed king" is one of the greatest surprises of the baseball year. Not only has he been beaten with frequency, but he has been thoroughly, ingloriously beaten—driven from the box by a rain of hits off his one time practically unsolvable delivery.

"I'm stale—I guess that's it," is Johnson's explanation. "Guess I overtrained this spring. My arm seems as good as ever. I feel fine physically, but I can't seem to get the stuff on the ball. But I'm not worried."

Perhaps Johnson isn't worried. But Clark Griffith, boss of the Senators, is worried—and worried to the extreme. Johnson's slump rudely awakened Griff from his rosy pennant dreams. Griff figured Johnson good for about 33 out of 40 starts and looked to his youngsters to enable him to "horn" his way into the 1914 world series. But with the Peerless Walter wabbling, Griff finds life naught but a drab and drear existence.

It must have gladdened the hearts of American League umpires to learn that Frank Chance, manager of the Yankees, and once the terror of arbitrating persons, has "reformed." Chance himself is authority for the reformation statement.

"The public no longer wants rowdism, nor does it want games delayed by petty bickering," said Chance, "and so I'm through as far as arguing with umpires is concerned. It don't get you anything."

Yes, it does, Frank. It used to get vacations ranging from one day upward, and, if memory serves us right, it used to bring about a thinning of your pay envelope.

It seems almost time that Gunboat Smith ceased disguising himself as an actor and gentleman of leisure and got down to the business of fighting for which he is far better fitted.

It's been so long since Gunboat swapped punches with anybody that only the oldest inhabitants can recall the date. The younger generation knows nothing about Gunboat (as a fighter) except what they read on the musty pages of history, or from what Gunboat's siren-sounding manager has to say about it.

Gunboat and his manager both assure everybody that Gunboat is the best scrapper that ever donned a pair of mitts and they add to that statement that "Gunboat isn't afraid of any man alive."

In Gotham town the fight fans are skeptical, especially about the latter part of the remarks. Jess Willard, the huge "white hope," has been begging Gunboat for a match, but the Gunboat person has been ducking it.

No man has a better right to tackle Smith than has Willard, who has made a great showing lately. But Willard has a mighty poor chance to lure Smith into a ring with him, and, as they say in breakfast food circles, "there's a reason." The reason is that the brave talking Mister Smith is afraid.

Uster Park Grange.

Uster Grange, No. 969, P. of H. of Uster Park, will hold its next regular meeting in Garfield Hall on Friday evening, May 15, at 8 o'clock. Several candidates will be voted on. The following lecturer's program will be given: Alphabetical contest; roll call with anecdotes of famous people; music, Miss Margaret House; reading, Miss Eva Freer; paper, "Relation of time to soil improvement," R. J. Gardner; music, Mrs. Adrianna Ellison; paper, "Food for the farm family," Mrs. Lester Hening.

CHAUTAUQUA WAS A GRAND SUCCESS

Attendance Larger Than Expected and the Program Gave Great Satisfaction to All—Attractive Features This Evening.

Wednesday Chautauqua opened at the armory with both an afternoon and evening session and the attendance was extremely gratifying to the promoters as the armory was filled to such an extent at the afternoon session that it was found necessary to place three hundred more chairs on the floor of the big drill shed in order to seat the large evening attendance. The first day of Chautauqua was an unqualified success and the program proved to be interesting and fulfilled the highest expectations. In the afternoon Edward P. Elliott, the platform superintendent, gave streets, its graftless methods of giving its citizens the worth of their taxes, the civic happiness and righteousness of its people. Frank Dixon in his wonderfully keen way is able to make clear the value of civic legislation for the health of the people; for the beauty of the city; for the best way to live. His lecture to be delivered here this evening is entitled "The Social Survey, or Taking Stock of a Town." Mr. Dixon's lecture is one of the best of the thirty-one events of the seven joyous days.

Alms Board Visits Newburgh.

The members of the board of alms commissioners with Superintendent Thomas H. Edmonston as host made a trip of inspection to the city alms house in Newburgh on Wednesday. The party left Kingston in two automobiles. Superintendent William W. Collins welcomed the visitors in Newburgh and were shown through the model building. There the commissioners dined and accompanied by Superintendent Collins returned to Poughkeepsie where the city alms house was inspected through the courtesy of Superintendent Hitchcock.

the first of a series of lectures and presented the first two acts of "The Fortune Hunter." To say the least Mr. Elliott was so good that a large number were disappointed when they found that he was not to take an active part in the evening session, aside from introducing the artists. Mr. Elliott will prove to be the most attractive feature of Chautauqua Week.

Both afternoon and evening Victor and his band rendered a fine concert. When one has seen Victor for the first time they will never forget him and as a band leader he stands in a class by himself. He is a medium sized man with a heavy mop of dark hair parted in the center with heavy bangs over both ears. When he warmed up to his work he was all over the stage and his control over his band was marvelous. He led them with eye, hands and body and when the band reached the climax of whatever selection they happened to be playing Victor's hair waved like a battle flag in the air and his arms jerking this way and that knocked over music stands or whatever happened to be in his way. It is safe to say that so energetic a leader as Victor has never been seen in Kingston.

The selections of the band were so good that they were forced to resort to a number of encores. The soloist of both the afternoon and evening was Crawford Adams, the violinist. Mr. Adams is but a young man but his mastery of the violin is absolute and his work was so good that the audience refused to allow him to go without responding to a number of encores. One of his best selections was the "Mocking Bird," which he played accompanied by Victor and his band. Such control did Mr. Adams have of his instrument that the shrill sweet notes of the mockingbird were imitated in a wonderful manner. There is no question that he is one of the finest violinists ever heard in this vicinity.

The fine program at the evening session was brought to a close by Dr. William Rader, who delivered an illustrated lecture on "The Panama Canal and Its Opening." Mr. Rader's lecture was illustrated with beautifully colored views showing the work at the canal, and views of the buildings which will be seen at the great San Francisco exhibition in 1915. He was an eloquent and forceful speaker and his lecture was extremely timely and educational.

This evening the program will consist of the Trollean Alpine Yodlers and Frank Dixon, who will speak on "The Social Survey, or Taking Stock of a Town." It goes without saying that the big armory will be jammed.

It is given many orators the power to deliver scathing sarcasm and accusatory invective, but to not many of them is there given a clean, impersonal motive for their words. Frank Dixon, the powerful, fearless speaker who astonished great Chautauqua audiences last summer in his address on "An Out-grown Constitution," does not deal in invective; he does have a wonderful capacity for sarcasm, good natured sarcasm, but no less filled with truth; he has above all, his big motive, to encourage communities to love and respect for civic order and beauty. Frank Dixon isn't a theoretical landscaper, views of the lawns of the rich; he isn't even a city planner in a geographical way. He doesn't say much about flowerbeds and hedge fences.

What Frank Dixon has to advocate is a clean city government; a government that recognizes the preciousness of human life; that puts the laws of sanitation above the laws of finance; that guarantees by its health laws, its playgrounds, its enforcement of labor laws, its clean

The Out of Doors Man

The fellow with the big, tough muscles who can chop trees all day and lift the butt end of a hard log, is a hardy liver in everything he tackles. He likes his tobacco rich, sweet, mellow and Long Cut—good for both smoking and chewing. He uses

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

New York, May 14.—What ails Walter Johnson? seems to be a subject in which the nation is more vitally interested than in Mexico, the Panama tolls question or anything else.

The poor showing made so far by the Washington "speed king" is one of the greatest surprises of the baseball year. Not only has he been beaten with frequency, but he has been thoroughly, ingloriously beaten—driven from the box by a rain of hits off his one time practically unsolvable delivery.

"I'm stale—I guess that's it," is Johnson's explanation. "Guess I overtrained this spring. My arm seems as good as ever. I feel fine physically, but I can't seem to get the 'stuff' on the ball. But I'm not worried."

Perhaps Johnson isn't worried. But Clark Griffith, boss of the Senators, is worried—and worried to the extreme. Johnson's slump rudely awakened Griff from his rosy pennant dreams. Griff figured Johnson good for about 33 out of 40 starts and looked to his youngsters to add enough additional victories to enable him to "horn" his way into the 1914 world series. But with the Peerless Walter wobbling, Griff finds life naught but a drab and drear existence.

It must have gladdened the hearts of American League umpires to learn that Frank Chance, manager of the Yankees, and once the terror of arbitrating persons, has "reformed." Chance himself is authority for the reformation statement.

"The public no longer wants rowdism, nor does it want games delayed by petty bickering," said Chance, "and so I'm through as far as arguing with umpires is concerned. It don't get you anything."

Yes, it does, Frank. It used to get vacations ranging from one day upward, and, if memory serves us right, it used to bring about a thinning of your pay envelope.

It seems almost time that Gunboat Smith ceased disguising himself as an actor and gentleman of leisure and get down to the business of fighting for which he is far better fitted.

It's been so long since Gunboat swapped punches with anybody that only the oldest inhabitants can recall the date. The younger generation knows nothing about Gunboat (as a fighter) except what they read on the musty pages of history, or from what Gunboat's siren-sounding manager has to say about it.

Gunboat and his manager both assure everybody that Gunboat is the best scrapper that ever donned a pair of mitts and they add to that statement that Gunboat isn't afraid of any man alive.

In Gotham town the fight fans are skeptical, especially about the latter part of the remarks. Jess Willard, the huge "white hope," has been begging Gunboat for a match, but the Gunboat person has been ducking it.

No man has a better right to tackle Smith than has Willard, who has made a great showing lately. But Willard has a mighty poor chance to lure Smith into a ring with him, and as they say in breakfast food circles, "there's a reason." The reason is that the brave talking Mister Smith is afraid.

Uster Park Grange.

Uster Grange, No. 969, P. of H., of Uster Park, will hold its next regular meeting in Garfield Hall on Friday evening, May 15, at 8 o'clock. Several candidates will be voted on. The following lecturer's program will be given: Alphabetical contest; roll call with anecdotes of famous people; music; Miss Margaret House, reading; Miss Eva Freer; paper, "Relation of time to soil improvement." R. J. Gardner; music; Mrs. Adrianna Ellison; paper, "Food for the farm family." Mrs. Lester Henning.

Wednesday Chautauqua opened at the armory with both an afternoon and evening session and the attendance was extremely gratifying to the promoters as the armory was filled to such an extent at the afternoon session that it was found necessary to place three hundred more chairs on the floor of the big drill shed in order to seat the large evening attendance.

The first day of Chautauqua was an unqualified success and the program proved to be interesting and fulfilled the highest expectations. In the afternoon Edward P. Elliott, the platform superintendent, gave streets, its graftless methods of giving its citizens the worth of their taxes, the civic happiness and righteousness of its people. Frank Dixon in his wonderfully keen way is able to make clear the value of civic legislation for the health of the people; for the beauty of the city; for the best way to live. His lecture to be delivered here this evening is entitled "The Social Survey, or Taking Stock of a Town." Mr. Dixon's lecture is one of the best of the thirty-one events of the seven joyous days.

Alms Board Visits Newburgh.

The members of the board of alms commissioners with Superintendent Thomas H. Edmonston as least made a trip of inspection to the city alms house in Newburgh on Wednesday. The party left Kingston in two automobiles. Superintendent William W. Collins welcomed the visitors in Newburgh and were shown through the model building. There the commissioners dined and accompanied by Superintendent Collins returned to Poughkeepsie where the city alms house was inspected through the courtesy of Superintendent Hitchcock.
